'Phantom Terrorist' Again Eludes Posse!

LONE CONVICT CONTINUES TO BAFFLE OFFICERS

Companion Of Joe Tanko, Following Capture, Tells Of Prison Escape

SACRAMENTO, May 15.—A formal charge of murder will be placed late today against Floyd Hall and Joe Tanko, "phantom terrorists," District Attorney J. J. Henderson announced this afternoon, following the partial completion of the examination of Hall by police officials.

The pair, of whom Tanko still remains at large, will be charged with the killing of Joe Litzberg, Sacramento merchant, who was shot to death when his store was robbed. Hall refused to confess to the killing of Litzberg, but admitted that he and Tanko had arrived in Sacramento two hours before the killing occurred.

At the same time police revealed that they had matched up the bullet found in the body of Litzberg as coming from a gun similar to the 30-30 rifle in possession of the fleeing bandits. Hall admitted theft of the rifle. Police said that admissions of Hall coupled with the evidence now in their possession was sufficient to base the filing of the murder charge.

Tells Prison Break
Outstanding admissions made by Floyd Hall in a statement to Chief of Police McShane this afternoon included the declaration that he and Tanko had no outside assistance in effecting their escape from San Quentin.

He said that they had picked the lock from the inside of the cell, then worked their way down through the inside yard and there by escaped.

Hall's statement was very incomplete. He appeared forgetful when questioned concerning the route taken by the bandits after leaving San Quentin.

Makes Statement
He admitted, however, that the bandits stole a 30-30 carbine on the outskirts of some town between San Francisco and Sacramento on the day following their escape. The pair arrived in Sacramento, Hall said, on the 18th of April, two hours before the killing of Joe Litzberg, a local merchant, in his establishment in the downtown district.

Hall stated that the men registered at a rooming house at 620 M street two hours before the actual shooting. Police records show that they engaged a room

LOS ANGELES, May 15.—A temporary injunction restraining the Arizona corporation commission and the attorney-general of Arizona from enforcing an order for the reduction of railroad freight rates in that state was granted today by United States Circuit Judge Ross and Federal Judges James and Jacobs, sitting en banc. The injunction requires the commission to post $50,000 bonds for ten days, pending a hearing before the Interstate Commerce commission on the rate dispute.

SPLIT MARKS SESSION OF FILM MEN

End Truce Between Theatre Owners and Members of State Organization

MILWAUKEE, May 15.—The closing session of the Motion Picture Theatre Owners of America was thrown into confusion late today when the truce that has existed between M. P. T. O. and the Allied States organization suddenly was brought to an end.

The break came when representatives of the allied organization, who had attended the first session of the M. P. T. O. meeting, called a separate meeting with the announced intention of extending their organization into every state in the union and to carry on the battle for independent exhibitors separately and distinctly from the parent organization. The announcement was in the form of a statement issued by W. A. Steffes of Minneapolis.

Co-operation of the department of justice in an investigation of the various film boards of trade is asked in a resolution before the Picture Theatre Owners' association, he said.

HERO OF VERDUN BURIED IN PARIS

General Mangin Laid to Rest With Full Military Honors Paid

PARIS, May 15.—General Charles Mangin, hero of Verdun, who died Tuesday, was buried today with full military honors in Montparnasse cemetery. A requiem mass was held in the Chapel of Invalids, where rests the body of Napoleon. The only funeral oration was five simple words from former Premier Clemenceau to the general's widow yesterday: "He was a great soldier."

The body was escorted to the cemetery by units of the various French and Colonial troops, which had served under Mangin's command during the war. Two regiments of infantry, artillery and cavalry paraded. The band of plumed and helmeted Republican guard played Chopin's funeral march.

General Mangin led the first, second and thirty-second American divisions in the first important American victory in France—Soissons-Rheims offensive in the summer of 1918.

OVER MILLION COMING TO STATE IN SUMMER

Low Rates Become Effective On All Railroads For Westward Travel

By J. C. ROYLE

NEW YORK, May 15.—The gold rush to California in '49 may have created more excitement, but it was of miniature size compared with the tourist rush to the Pacific which started officially today. In '49 the travelers sought gold, but in 1925 they will take it with them, either to spend or invest.

California expects a million and a half tourists during the 1925 season, and nearly as many will invade the other states from Texas, Colorado, Wyoming and Montana, west.

The excursion fares on the railroads, which have been extensively advertised, become effective today and railroad and tourist agencies say this is going to be a "California summer," so far as the country west of the Alleghenies is concerned. The railroads expect to haul million passengers Californiaward and half that number are scheduled to make the trip by motor.

Last year was a bad year for western tourists, owing to the foot and mouth quarantine and forest fires which discouraged motoring and camping in the northern part of California. This season these difficulties probably will not be encountered. To add to the attractions some forty festivals and celebrations have been scheduled in various parts of California between June and September. These include San Francisco's diamond jubilee, Shriners' celebrations and rodeos and pageants. A hundred special trains already have been chartered, each of which will carry 200 to 300 persons.

Coming by Motor
The motor tourists have been encouraged by the improvement in the transcontinental highways. The Wendover cutoff, a forty-mile section between Utah and Nevada now is practically completed. This eliminates one of the worst links in the Victory highway. The Elks' National convention at Portland will draw visitors to the northwest and their progress will be facilitated by completion of the Redwood highway in California.

California officials have already started a thorough inspection of sanitary conditions surrounding the automobile camps located in or near 150 towns and cities. Many of them are under municipal control and are free to tourists. Others make only a nominal charge to the traveler. The average automobile tourist party comprises about three persons.

Experts who have made a close study of the tourist traffic estimate that each California visitor spends at least $10 a day and stays an average of thirty days. If, as is expected, 1,500,000 tourists make the trip this year, they will leave behind them $450,000,000. Despite the size of this sum, the larger organizations in California state emphatically that this is a minor consideration.

Representatives of these civic bodies say that 75 per cent of the tourists who go to the Pacific have in the back of their heads the possibility of settling there sooner or later or of investing their money in the west. These men say they are far more interested in attracting capital and self-supporting families than they are in the money spent there.

One representative organization had 1,959 letters of inquiry in the last week which surpasses all records for a similar period in the

General Miles Dies Suddenly

NELSON A. MILES, general and veteran of the Civil war, famous as an Indian fighter, who dropped dead at a circus at Washington today.

Famous Indian Fighter Is Stricken While Watching Circus At Capital

WASHINGTON, May 15.—General Nelson A. Miles, veteran of the Civil war and famous Indian fighter, dropped dead here this afternoon. He was 86 years old.

Miles was occupying a reserved seat at a circus here when he suddenly fell forward on the heads of those sitting in front of him. He was dead when his friends reached him, presumably from apoplexy.

Born in Westminster, Mass., in 1839, Miles was educated at Harvard, Brown and Colgate, and first entered the military service in 1861 as a first lieutenant in the 22nd Massachusetts infantry. He became a lieutenant-colonel of the 62nd New York infantry in 1862, a brigadier-general in 1864, a major-general in 1865 and was mustered out the following year.

Indian Fighter
A few months later he returned to the military service as a colonel in the 40th infantry, regular army. He served then as a brigadier-general and major-general in campaigns against the Indians in the west, notably Sitting Bull, Crazy Horse, Chief Joseph, Geronimo and Natchez.

General Miles commanded the United States troops at Chicago during the strike trouble in 1894 and represented the government in Europe during the Turco-Grecian war in 1897. During the Spanish war he was the senior American officer in command of troops, retiring from the army in 1903 as a lieutenant-general.

In 1892 General Miles was awarded the Congressional Medal of Honor for distinguished service at Chancellorsville during the Civil war.

MILLIONAIRES TAKE AIR IN DIRIGIBLE

Los Angeles Leaves Mooring Mast For Flight Over Washington Region

LAKEHURST, N. J., May 15.—The dirigible Los Angeles blended into drab gray skies as it slid away from the mooring mast at 11:31 a. m. eastern daylight time today with a passenger list of leaders of the financial and scientific world. A six-hour flight over Philadelphia, Camden, Trenton, Easton, Reading, Washington and Chester was planned.

There were thirty-two passengers aboard. Most of them are wealthy. One estimate was that their combined wealth exceeds $1,000,000,000.

Weather conditions were far from ideal when the big ship departed. It had been raining. What airmen call the "ceiling" was low and the visibility was poor. Improved conditions were expected this afternoon.

At 1 o'clock luncheon was served on board the ship while she was aloft.

According to Captain George W. Steel, Jr., in command of the ship, the "sky mail" will be without parallel in aerial annals for the number of partakers and the quality of the dishes.

The purpose of the trip was to afford the advisory board members an opportunity to view from the air the district in which they would play an important part in time of war.

The list of those invited to take the flight included the crew of twenty-eight, eleven army and navy officers and twenty-two civilians.

Among the latter were Dwight Davis, assistant secretary of war; George Horace Lorimer, editor; Elbridge Johnson, president of the Victor Talking Machine Co.; Atwater Kent, president of the radio corporation hearing his name; and Francis and Felix Dupont, president and vice-president of the Dupont de Nemours Co.

Among army and naval officers on board were Major James K. Crain, ordnance officer at Philadelphia; Captain W. E. Dittmars, executive assistant Philadelphia ordnance district; Rear-Admiral C. F. Hughes, Lieutenant-Commander William D. Kilduff and Major-General William G. Price of the Pennsylvania National Guard.

DEATH THREAT FROM RUM RUNNERS

Port Warden Gets Warning He Will Be Killed If 'War' Continues

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON, May 15.—Checked by the coast guard's blockade of rum row, liquor smugglers are making a gigantic thrust to land their cargoes overland through northern New York and Vermont, according to reports to prohibition chiefs here today.

Vessels are rapidly departing from rum row for Canadian ports and transferring liquor to trucks for shipment into the United States, the reports said.

LOS ANGELES, May 15.—Federal, county and city prohibition officers united today in a drastic campaign against liquor smugglers along the coast line and in Los Angeles harbor as a result of a death threat delivered to Port Warden C. B. Terry, whose activities have balked the landing of several large cargoes.

Emboldened by success in defeating "rum pirates," the liquor smugglers carried the war ashore and warned Terry he would be killed unless he ceased interfering with liquor shipments when they issued him an ultimatum over the telephone.

Officers reported today they had traced the telephone call and obtained a description of the suspect.

In the meantime six rum ships were reported anchored off San Clemente island, waiting to land cargoes.

Terry has ordered the number of guards at every pier in the harbor increased and small boats are patrolling the harbor.

Rum Runners Move South To Evade Prohibition Navy

NEW YORK, May 15.—Rum row has moved south. Tons of liquor are being landed near Norfolk, Va., and being trans-shipped by a roundabout route to New York, according to well authenticated information reaching here today.

A few of the bootleg ships still remained here, however, coast guard officers believing these few boats were acting as decoys to harry the blockading government fleet and prevent its withdrawal to the new base of operations.

A large ocean-going tug was reported to be running the blockade successfully.

Then, in some unknown manner, she was reported to have slipped through the blockade and landed her contraband cargo within New York harbor.

One of the biggest seizures of liquor since the government drive began was made when prohibition agents confiscated about $10,000 worth of champagne, cordials and gin aboard the Belgian steamer Mercier at a Brooklyn pier.

WOMAN KILLED IN BUS-TRAIN CRASH

Nineteen Society Members Hurt As Switch Engine Collides With Stage

WINDSOR, Ontario, May 15.—One woman was killed and nineteen others injured early today when a motor bus was struck by an Essex terminal switch engine. Two men were injured.

The party, comprising drill and degree teams of the Daughters and Maids of England, a fraternal organization, branch of the Sons of England, was returning to the border cities from initiation proceedings at Kingsville. Mrs. H. C. Potter, 42, Windsor, died a few minutes after the accident. Her daughter, May, was severely injured.

Opera Star Glad She Spat On Sister Star

LONDON, May 15.—There is no regret in the heart of Madame Marie Olczewaska, who spat at Madame Marie Jeritza and was "glad" of it, though the tiff with the Metropolitan star cost Olczewaska her contract with the Vienna opera.

Madame Olczewaska arrived in London from Vienna today and reported considering a contract with Covent garden.

She was emphatic in her comment on the tiff which arose when the Viennese star thought Jeritza's conversation in the wings interrupted her singing.

"I consider myself the aggravated person," she said. "I asked her three times to desist. She refused and I spat on her. I wish I had struck her. I am not penitent. I don't know whether I have been dismissed by the Vienna opera and I don't care."

WELLS, BRYAN TO MEET ON EVOLUTION

Famous Novelist, Commoner To Be Asked To Debate In Tennessee Case

DAYTON, Tenn., May 15.—H. G. Wells, famous British novelist, will be drawn into the ranks of the defense for Professor J. T. Scopes, for alleged violation of the state anti-evolution law, it was announced today by Professor John R. Neal, one of the defense attorneys.

Wells will be asked to debate with William Jennings Bryan, who has tendered his services to the prosecution, on the subject of evolution.

Other leading scientists and educators who will be called to appear as witnesses are: Dr. H. A. Morgan, president of the University of Tennessee; Dr. Harry Emerson Fosdick, Nicholas Murray Butler, Dr. Lovejoy of Johns Hopkins; John Dewey, Dr. Mayo and Dr. William Haggard, president of the American Medical society.

He attempted to extinguish the flames with chemicals, but they had gained too much headway. The first call to the fire department was made at 7:05, followed five minutes later with a second call that brought to the scene of the blaze engine companies No. 2 and 3. Engine company 1 responded to the first call.

Firemen were forced to risk their lives on the light tin roof over the blazing inferno in the paint warehouse to reach the flames, and from that point and from a rear door tons of water were poured in. Two small lines of hose were kept at the front entrance of the paint store to guard against the flames breaking through to that point.

Through two large windows the flames were carried into the rear of the Hunt & Bowers Furniture Co. at 117 South Brand boulevard. While some of the furniture was burned, most of the damage there is from smoke and water. The damage was estimated as follows:

Glendale Paint & Paper Co., stock $15,000; damage $12,000; insurance $10,000.

Hunt & Bowers Furniture Co., stock $10,000; damage, $5000; insurance, $8000.

California apartments, damage, $1000; partially covered by insurance.

Total damage, $18,000; mostly covered by insurance.

The portion of the California apartments, 115 1/2 South Brand boulevard, that were damaged are owned by Ezra F. Parker and managed by W. A. Webber. In the living room of the apartment from which Mrs. Abbott and her daughter were forced to flee the floor is burned through in several places. A valuable piano was damaged, walls were scorched and burned and the woodwork was badly damaged.

Efficient work of the fire department headed by Chief A. H. Lankford confined the flames to the rear of the buildings where

OIL TANKS IN STOREROOM ENDANGER FIREMEN

Conflagration In Paint And Furniture Stores Causes Loss of $18,000

Awakened by a blast of flame that almost reached their bed, two women were forced to flee for their lives in scanty attire, shortly after 7 o'clock this morning, in a fire at 115 1/2, 117 and 119 South Brand boulevard, that caused damage estimated at $18,000.

Starting from an unknown cause in the rear of the Glendale Paint & Paper Co., owned by William Hunter, 119 South Brand boulevard where thousands of gallons of paints, oils, kerosene and hundreds of bundles of wall paper were stored, it followed the inside of the walls into the California apartments on the second floor.

A roof window in the paint warehouse was broken by the heat of the flames. Fanned by the draft thus formed and with a great gust of heavy black smoke, a hot tongue of fire licked at the outside of the apartment windows, broke through and almost reached Mrs. Hulda Abbott and her daughter, Thelma Abbott, who were sleeping close to one window.

With no time to reach even a robe, they stumbled to the doorway and into the hall. The smoke had not yet reached there in such heavy volume, and they regained their breath and reached aid in another apartment. Had the flames broke into the apartment just a few feet from where they did, it is likely that the two women would have been victims of the blaze.

Stubborn Blaze

The crowded condition of the rear room and the heavy black smoke from oils and paints made the fire an exceptionally stubborn one to fight. G. P. Miller, manager of the Glendale Paint & Paper Co., opened the store at 7 o'clock this morning, and was talking to two painters in the front portion of the building when he noticed smoke coming from the rear.

He attempted to extinguish the flames with chemicals, but they had gained too much headway. The first call to the fire department was made at 7:05, followed five minutes later with a second call that brought to the scene of the blaze engine companies No. 2 and 3. McCormack Stock Sold Out, Underwriter Says

Stephen W. Huntington, who underwrote the last two issues of treasury stock of the H. S. McCormack Associates corporation, reports the entire issue sold out, thus completing the entire capitalization of $100,000 authorized by the state commissioner.

The shares have been selling at a premium of $12.50 a share and Mr. Huntington reports that as rapidly as the bonus money was received it was utilized in the purchase of the highest grade public utility bonds which were turned over to the reserve and sinking fund of the corporation.

Mr. McCormack stated that it was not the intention of the company to increase its capitalization until the present reserve is built up to $25 a share for each outstanding share which he predicts will require another nine months' operation.

Although this local concern has been investing in Glendale real estate, mortgages and trust deeds but twenty months, it appears to be in a strong financial condition and has consistently paid quarterly dividends and has paid three dividends.

At the next meeting of the board of directors, the amount of the June 15 dividend will be decided upon and announced.

The officers of the company, in addition to the president, H. S. McCormack, are William W. Lee, first vice-president; Earle C. Pendroy, vice-president; R. T. Richardson, secretary and treasurer; William W. McMillan and F. L. Huntington, assistant secretary.

CASSELMAN IS MADE REALTY SECRETARY

Resignation Of John Klise From Glendale Board Brings Appointment

Resignation of John H. Klise as secretary of the Glendale Realty board and the appointment of D. C. Casselman, well-known Glendale realtor to the position, was announced today by President William L. Twining of the Realty board. The change in secretaries will become effective June 1.

Secretary Klise was appointed January 1, 1925, to succeed Miss Winifred Traver. Mr. Klise said today that he has no plans for the immediate future other than spending his time in retirement at his home, 1332 North Raymond street.

Mr. Casselman has been a resident and real estate broker in Glendale since last July, being connected until recently with local real estate and building enterprises. Prior to coming to Glendale, the new secretary was for twenty years a resident of Los Angeles. There he served for thirteen years as chief deputy public administrator in the county offices, later serving as secretary-manager of the Los Angeles Builders' exchange. Mr. Casselman organized and supervised the Glendale real estate extension course, now the largest for the size of the city of any in the United States. He has served on important committees of the local board.

LEAGUE THANKS NEWS FOR STORY

Appreciates Publicity Given On Discussion Over School Bond Issue

Editor The Evening News: The membership committee of the Glendale Municipal league, directed the chairman to extend thanks and words of appreciation for the publicity given the meeting of the league Monday night, May 11, in the Wilson Intermediate school.

One of the fine things the municipal league can do for Glendale taxpayers, it will enable them to meet and hear discussion on both sides of public questions.

In other cities where the unorganized taxpayers have done as is now being done in Glendale, i. e., organize for fact-finding, not fault-finding, the experience has been that the first meetings will be rather informal with the noisy but well meaning public spirited citizen very much in evidence.

In Glendale we find, as members of the committee on membership, in talking to men and women a practically unanimous sentiment in favor of taking care of the schools, but there is a pronounced desire for a detail budget.

Comment by the committee on the report of the Committee of Fifteen was favorable. Any man or woman taking part in preparing such a report and doing the investigating incidental to getting the information compiled will appreciate the effort as unselfish public service well done.

One thing suggested by the membership committee for taxpayers to think over is this, the league members are conscious of its strength. It is not a blind force working in darkness and ignorance. Haste is a sign of weakness. The Glendale Municipal league will "make haste" slowly, civic need has placed its roots deep, nothing can stop its growth nor check its influence for good.

Special meeting will be held in the Wilson Intermediate school Monday, 8 p. m., May 25. Membership card with constitution and by-laws at 108 West Broadway.

LOCAL FLYERS WILL ATTEND MEETING

Glendale To Be Represented
At Gathering Tomorrow
At Santa Barbara

A score of men, pioneers in aviation, who blazed the trail of an aeronautical association in the southwest at the time of the air meet in Glendale two months ago, will gather in Santa Barbara tomorrow to complete their organization plans and launch their association with permanent officers and working policies.

History of aviation will be made when the Santa Barbara meeting is called to order by Dr. T. C. Young, a Glendale man, who is temporary chairman. The delegates, representing every part of the southwest, will gather at noon at the Arlington hotel. Most of those attending the meeting will fly from their home cities to Santa Barbara. At least two ships, the "Argonaut," cabin ship owned by Dr. Young, and a Kinner plane, manufactured and built in Glendale, will fly from this city.

The organization of the aeronautical association, together with the trip from Glendale to Santa Barbara and back to the Glendale Airport, will be "covered" by A. S. Hall, a member of the editorial staff of The Glendale Evening News, who will make the trip with Dr. Young in his cabin plane.

The airplanes will land at Ovington field where the delegates will be met by motor cars and taken to the Arlington hotel. Following lunch at the hotel, the business session will take place. Earl Ovington, pioneer flyer, and members of the Santa Barbara Flying club will be hosts to the air delegation.

An organization committee of eight members, appointed at the time of the Glendale air meet, will formulate plans for the new organization, to include air clubs in all territory as far east as Denver. Members of this committee are Dr. Young, chairman; Howard I. Wood, also of Glendale, secretary; Lieut. C. P. Kane, Ross Field, representing the Army; Earl Ovington, A. L. Oliver, Santa Ana; A. E. Isham, Redlands; Frank H. Page, San Diego, and Elliott Barrett, Los Angeles attorney.

The ships flying to Santa Barbara from Glendale will leave this city at 10 o'clock. Included in the Glendale party will be a movie camera man who will "shoot" scenes from the air on the trip north and again at Santa Barbara. These pictures will be incorporated into the reels taken during the Glendale air meet, and will when completed constitute a complete pictorial history of the inception and formation of the aeronautical association.

R. S. Karr, editor and publisher of the Ace magazine, only aeronautical work published in Southern California, will also be in the Glendale party at Santa Barbara. Mr. Karr is expected at that time to announce the relocation of his editorial offices and printing plant in Glendale. It is known that Mr. Karr is anxious to bring his magazine headquarters here, as this city is now the recognized center of aeronautical activities. Another man of world reputation in the party will be J. T. Edwards, map maker of Glendale, who will go to the meet to offer his services and his Glendale map factory for making charts and maps of the southwest.

"It will be the object of the Glendale delegation to firmly establish this city as the recognized center of air activities at the Santa Barbara meeting," Dr. Young said today. "Glendale led off with the first air meet and the preliminary organization of an aeronautical association. The idea has been endorsed everywhere and has become a movement embracing half a dozen states. We must maintain Glendale as the hub of the wheel."

Fifty Years of Wedded Life

Here is a most unusual picture. It shows a wedding group in 1875, also the same group in 1925. Above: The members of the group as they were fifty years ago. Standing: Mrs. Mary Zoeller, John Gasner. Seated (left to right): Nicholas Smith, Mrs. Margaret Krupp, John Krupp and Mrs. John Lorenz. Below: The golden wedding photo.

TIFFIN, O., May 15.—When Mr. and Mrs. John Krupp observed their golden wedding anniversary here recently, all the attendants at their wedding a half a century ago were guests at the celebration.

The couple and their attendants went to the photographic studio of O. B. Tunison, and were photographed in the same room and in the same position in which Tunison snapped them on the wedding day.

Mrs. Krupp wore the same lace shawl on both occasions. The total ages of the six now totals 433 years.

The Krupps have seven children and twenty-two grandchildren, and all of them were at the celebration. There has not been a death in the family.

AIDS OPENING OF PALMER AVENUE

Pacific Electric Presents
Easement to Permit
Improvement Work

The first step in the creation of one of the most important cross-city thoroughfares was completed today with the receipt by City Manager V. B. Stone of an easement from the Pacific Electric railroad for opening of Palmer avenue across the Pacific Electric right of way. Opening of the avenue is considered one of the most important progressive moves by the city this year.

The easement, however, is subject to the order of the State Railroad commission and that Palmer avenue be paved and be made forty feet wide between curbs from San Fernando road to Tyler street. Petitions for improvement of Palmer avenue are being circulated among property owners along the street today, and they will be submitted to the City Council within the next ten days, it is understood.

Opening of Palmer avenue its entire length will make a through thoroughfare from San Fernando road to York boulevard diverting to it an immense amount of traffic that is overloading other through streets.

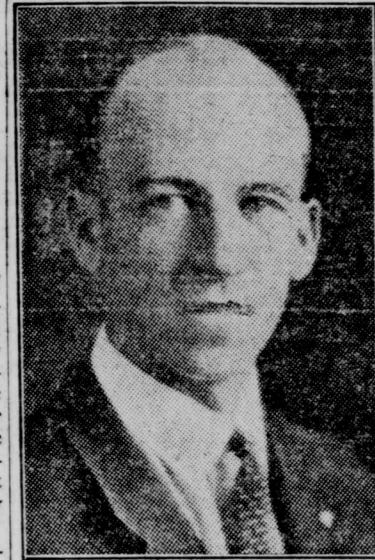

The State Railroad commission from its San Francisco office recently rendered a decision permitting the city of Glendale to open the street and ordering the Pacific Electric to grant the easement, subject, however, to improvement of the street.

BID TO RECEPTION

Members of Glendale Assembly, No. 45, Social Order of Beauceant, have been requested to attend a reception which will be given Monday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock at the Los Angeles Masonic Temple, corner of Pico and Figueroa streets, in honor of Mrs. Irene Hitzl, supreme worthy president of the Supreme Assembly. The reception is being given by Los Angeles Assembly. Officers of Glendale Assembly are asked to attend as initiation ceremonies will be held.

President

DR. W. B. WALKER, chosen head of the Glendale Dental society at a meeting held last night.

Dr. W. B. Walker was elected president of the Glendale Dental Society last night at the meeting held at the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse. Other officers elected were Dr. W. R. Crowell, president-elect; Dr. H. C. Haisch, secretary and treasurer; Dr. A. Loomis, editor. Retiring officers are Dr. C. R. Lusby, president; Dr. W. B. Walker, president-elect; Dr. W. R. Crowell, secretary and treasurer.

The meeting was the last to be held until September when the newly-elected officers will have charge. Dr. C. R. Lusby, president, had charge of the meeting which was attended by thirty-five members including guests from Los Angeles. A supper was served preceding the business session. Sidney Richardson read a paper on "Requirements of Dental Gold" and F. W. Hancock gave a demonstration of Taggart's technique of cast inlays.

Dr. Lusby, retiring president, announced the meeting of the Southern California Dental association to take place the latter part of May and the first of June at Los Angeles. A large delegation of Glendale dentists will attend the session.

JAP LABOR UNIONS

Members of labor unions in Japan now number about 300,000, the most powerful organization being the Japan Federation of Labor which has 40,000 members, while a somewhat less influential body, the Peasants' Union, has 50,000 on its rolls.

URGES NAMES OF STREETS UNIFORM

Improvement Body Will Ask
Burbank To Follow
Local Plan

Co-ordination of the names of the various streets running from Glendale into Burbank, and the renaming of Tenth street were advocated at the meeting last night at Grand View school of the Greater Northwest Improvement association. Action was taken favoring a communication to the city manager, recommending that the Glendale Planning commission and Burbank Planning commission consider the matter jointly. Mr. Gyger, vice-president, presided.

In discussion of names of streets, it was suggested that, since Glendale has named Fourth street, Glenoaks boulevard, and Sixth street Glenwood road, that Burbank should take the initiative in renaming Tenth street. The desire was also voiced that Burbank rename Fourth street Glenoaks boulevard and rename Sixth street Glenwood road, to correspond with Glendale's action. Another suggestion was that Sunset Canyon drive, in Burbank, and Mountain street, in Glendale, should bear the same name. "A report from Mr. Kohl showed that he has obtained a practically 100 per cent petition for the opening up and paving of Fifth street, from Grand View and Glenwood road on the west.

Will Open Street
Messrs. Knuchell, Farrand and Kohl, who recently appeared before the Burbank City Council, reported that the council had instructed their right-of-way man to take necessary steps to have Glenoaks boulevard opened up on the south side of the street from Spazier avenue to Providencia.

Information received in the past few days from the Burbank official states that he is meeting with success in obtaining the necessary dedications for opening up this stretch. An encouraging report was made by Mr. Gyger on the proposed lowering of the Pacific Electric

USE OF NAME RESULTS IN LAWSUIT

Annette Kellerman Seeking Injunction In Country
Club Proposition

Asking an injunction to prevent the use of her name in connection with the Annette Kellerman Rancho Country club near Snuland, an action has been filed in superior court by Annette Kellerman against the Rancho Building Co., the Annette Kellerman Realty corporation, J. L. LeBerthon and others.

She declares that plaintiffs are selling memberships and cabin sites in the club promoted under her name without any right or authority and without her consent. She also asks judgment for $20,000 against the defendants and petitions the appointment of a receiver for the enterprise.

Contract Made
According to LeBerthon, Miss Kellerman made a contract with him a year ago by which the country club was to be promoted for her at Sunland on an eighty-eight acre tract that was negotiated for.

Upon its completion the clubhouse of the Annette Kellerman Hidden Rancho club, together with a swimming pool, tennis court, croquet grounds and other features was to be turned over to her, with 25 per cent of the gross receipts from club memberships sold at from $260 to $450 each.

Up to the present time more than $45,000 has been collected on subscriptions that will, when paid up, amount to $90,000.

Known On Stage
The contract was rescinded by Miss Kellerman four weeks ago, it is claimed, because LeBerthon refused to advance her or James R. Sullivan, her husband, further cash from organization funds. Since then LeBerthon claims that no business has been transacted.

In her complaint, Miss Kellerman sets forth the facts that her maiden name has become widely and favorably known to the public in connection with her work on the stage, in motion pictures and in giving lessons in physical culture.

Daily Greeting to News Readers

MOST PEOPLE DON'T WANT—
To find work as much as they want to get a job.
To think they have been fooled in making their investments.
To believe the truth if it is uncomfortable.
To hear the man who insists upon preaching about duty.
To listen to smut if decency is winsomely presented.
To know unpleasant facts if pleasant falsehoods are believable.
To be held responsible for good government after election day.

TRAVEL IN MEXICO

A chain of tourist hotels in Mexico is to be built by an American company. Americans like to travel in strange countries, but they want American food and accommodations wherever they go, so those who wish to cater to American tourist trade must provide these things.

Why is it that Americans do not travel in Mexico? Is it due to lack of American accommodations, unrest in that country, or what? Mexico is one of the most interesting countries in the world, as picturesque as Europe and only a little less so than the Orient. Central Mexico boasts incomparable scenery and climate and one will find there a fascinating mixture of the oldest and finest civilization of Europe with the strangely picturesque culture of the primitive American Indian. Our acquaintance with our neighbors on the south is slight. Why do we not take as much interest in them as in the peoples of Europe and the Orient?

An official of the Baldwin Locomotive Works, Mr. Vaulchain, who spends a great deal of time in Mexico in the interests of his company, wrote an interesting article for Colliers some months ago. The riots at Herrin, Ill., and the occasional lynching parties held in this country would be called revolutions if they happened in Mexico, he said. And while in the large cities of the United States the banks must resort to the use of armored cars in transferring gold and silver from one bank to another, in Mexico City bank robberies and holdups are practically unknown. Office boys, unaccompanied and unarmed, carry thousands of dollars in valises about the streets.

President Calles of Mexico is zealously promoting the cause of universal elementary education and agrarian reform and bending every effort to bring his country into line with the modern nations of the world. We should be better acquainted with Mexico and her people. A vacation spent there might prove as interesting and educational as a trip to Europe or the Orient and it would be far less expensive. Our slogan should be, "See North America first."

COMMUNITY PRIDE

There are many things that help to build up a community, but there is no element more important than the pride of the citizens in their community, and the growth and importance of any city can be measured by the number of citizens who are proud that they live there. The one who does not think his community the best in the world does not belong there. He is unfair to himself and the city if he remains. When all the people make up their minds that the place where they live is the best on earth they will work and fight to make it still better.

In appealing to the citizens for loyalty to the community, the Santa Barbara Press says: "It is impossible to kill or hold back a community where people believe in it and are loyal to it and its traditions. The community where one man or one group holds back because another man or another group undertakes the promotion of something is a community that will ever be divided, and communities, like families or nations, when divided against themselves, cannot live."

"The man who receives his sustenance from the community; the man who makes his riches in a community; the man who has courted and won health in a community, owes his fealty to that community, and he also owes it his best effort to make it as satisfactory for someone else as it has been for him."

Glendale people cannot be accused of lack of pride in the community. The great majority of our people are intensely loyal. If there are those who are working against the community in the way of giving employment and patronage to outside people it is done through thoughtlessness. With a greater understanding of the importance of being loyal to home institutions there will be no limit to Glendale's possibilities as a city.

FOR ALL THE PEOPLE

We hear so much about the increasing use of the automobile; we read that there is a car in California for every three people, and in the entire country one for every seven. Indeed, we have only to look out of the window to realize the enormous and increasing use of the motorcar. But the Hemet News says that auto ownership is far from being universal and objects to Edsel Ford's talk of producing airplanes at a price within the reach of "all the people." What he means is a much larger proportion of the people than are now able to maintain private air chariots. The automobile, even the cheapest make, is far from being within the reach of all the people. The News goes on to prove this point, as follows:

"The estimated number of serviceable cars of all makes in America is 17,000,000 for a population of about 113,000,000. That is one car for about every seven people. If the cars were allotted one to each family there would be 7,500,000 families without cars. As a matter of fact, many families own more than one car and a large number of the 17,000,000 are represented by trucks used exclusively for commercial purposes and owned sometimes in big fleets by large corporations.

"Possibly half the people in the United States own or have a family interest in an automobile. This is an extraordinarily large number, but it is not 'the people.' That so large a proportion of the population will own or want to own or be able to own private airplanes seems doubtful. But prophecy in this field is fruitless."

BUILDING ROADS

Roman civilization, which we have always been taught to believe was so wonderful, was not so much, according to H. G. Wells. And the Akron Beacon-Journal says the Appian Way, which it took Rome fifty years to build, is child's play compared to America's road building program for this year.

Twenty-four thousand miles of highway (nearly enough to circle the earth) is scheduled for construction in this country during 1925, and maintenance of 217,794 additional miles is also planned. Since 1921 between 30,000 and 40,000 miles of surfaced roads have been constructed every year. "If the Romans had been faced with such an undertaking, and had needed to provide funds to build and maintain the roads, their emperors could have had something to brag about along the line of world's wonders," the Beacon-Journal says.

When it comes to building for permanence, though, we have to hand it to the ancient Romans. How many of our modern roads will be in repair a couple of thousand years from now?

IN THE SPRING THE YOUNG (CAVE)MAN'S FANCY—!

The Price of Power

By DR. FRANK CRANE

America has a good many more questions confronting it today than it had a hundred years ago.

One reason for this is that it is a much more powerful nation than it used to be. Its privileges, duties and responsibilities increase with power.

Sometimes a rich man finds that instead of liberating him when wealth comes to him it ties him up. He finds there are a thousand things he cannot do. His circle of friends is limited.

Along with the freedom that power brings there is a certain amount of restriction.

In Wagner's opera the god Wotan was limited always by the writing on his spear.

In some respects God, who we think can do everything, is bound down to doing certain things. His character of righteousness limits Him to doing right.

A good man finds that he is under obligations to do a great many things, obligations that the bad man does not feel. A good man must pay his debts, must tell the truth, and on occasions must die for his country or for the protection of his loved ones. From all of these obligations the bad man flies.

The president of the United States finds his liberties much curtailed. He can hardly do as he pleases. He is being watched by a million eyes and his every act is being noted. When he was inconspicuous he had much more liberty of action.

The artist finds that he must constantly rehearse. Very often the woman artist finds she cannot devote time to her family and her profession, too. She must sacrifice the things that all women hold dear in order to have a successful career.

In some respects it seems as though success shuts us up in a sort of prison. We can only do certain things. The public will not let us roam at large.

The freest man in many respects is the tramp. He sleeps where he can and eats what he can. His poverty gives him entire liberty of action. Nobody cares what he does.

As he ascends from this condition of the hobo he finds that more and more his freedom is curtailed.

A man cannot be a prize fighter unless he trains rigidly. He cannot attain success in any athletic direction unless he subjects himself to the severest discipline.

The student finds that he would get to excellence. He must study hard. He pleases is the man who has nothing, can do nothing, and knows nothing.

Those who want perfect liberty should not seek it in absolute power.

Horoscope

Astrologers read this as a doubtful day, for, although Mercury and Mars are in benefic aspect, the Sun, Venus and Saturn are all adverse.

The planetary conditions should be fairly good for commonplace matters and ordinary business activities.

Carpenters, contractors, hardware men and electricians are subject to a rule that is most beneficial to all who deal with them.

This should be a most favorable day for signing all forms of building contracts. Much construction of homes is forecast for all parts of the country.

In many cities apartments will be vacated for homes of modest style and suburban location, it is prophesied, for the stars will draw men and women back to simpler living.

Physicians and surgeons, engineers and men who led in constructive enterprises are all subject to the helpful influence of Mars.

Persons of great vigor and physical energy will benefit from this way, it is prophesied.

Railroads are under almost favorable direction of the stars which promises a great volume of travel in the summer months.

Colorado is to be prosperous in the next few months, if the stars are rightly interpreted.

This is not a propitious way for love affairs and he who proposes may expect to be disposed of summarily.

Old persons probably will be irritable and inclined to look on the dark side of life while Saturn is in the aspect this day's configuration.

They should watch their tempers, for the young will provoke them to anger.

Farmers in various parts of the country may be victims of discouraging weather conditions, but food prices are to bring them large profits in the fall.

Want will reach many workers in other lands in the summer when there may be unemployment in a few American centers of population.

Persons whose birthdate it is entering a busy year in which they will meet with many new and

Who's Who

One of the foremost supporters of the Zionist policy in Palestine is Brigadier General Sir Gilbert Clayton, former chief secretary of the Palestine government, who is slated to be named high commissioner of the homeland shortly, it is said.

Clayton's championing of the Zionist ideas is interesting, in view of the fact that he is not Jewish.

Born July 6, 1875, Clayton was educated at Isle of Wight college and the Royal Military academy at Woolwich. He entered the army at the age of 20. Since then he has spent much of his life at foreign posts. From 1900 to 1910 he was with the Egyptian army.

From 1914 to 1917 he served as director of intelligence in Egypt, later becoming chief political officer of the Egyptian Expeditionary Force. He was adviser to the ministry of the interior of Egypt from 1919 to 1922.

In 1919 Clayton was created a Knight commander of the British empire. He is a commander of the Bath, a Companion of St. Michael and St. George, a Fellow of the Royal Geographical society, and a colonel in the reserve of officers in the late royal artillery.

In addition to being an officer of the Legion of Honor, Fourth Class Ottoman, Third Class Medjidie, he is an officer, St. Maurice and Lazarus, St. Stanislaus; Grand Commander, Order of King George I. of Greece; Grand Cordon Order of the Nile; Second Class Order of the Nisha. He is also a Pasha of Egypt.

More than 10,000 pieces of property were turned into the lost and found department of one Eastern railroad last year.

Exact experiences, it is foretold.

Children born on this day probably will be exceedingly gifted. These subjects of Taurus usually are enthusiastic travelers. They may not like business and may prefer to enjoy all the artistic things in life.

The Best of Advice

By CLARK KINNAIRD

Man has been told over and over that there is no change and no anarchy in the universe. All is system and gradation.

Every god is sitting in his sphere.

Famine and plague, war, suicide and effete races must be reckoned calculable parts of the system of the world; Emerson observed.

"These are pebbles from the CLARK KINNAIRD mountain, hints of the terms by which our life is walled up, and which show a kind of mechanical exactness, as of a loom or mill, in which we call casual or fortuitous events."

The force with which we resist the torrents of tendency looks so ridiculously inadequate that it amounts to little more than a criticism or a protest made by a minority of one, under compulsion of millions, he opined.

We cannot trifle with this reality, this cropping-out in our planted gardens of the core of the world. No picture of life can have any veracity that does not admit of the odious facts. A man's power is hooped in by a necessity which, by many experiments, he touches on every side until he learns the arc.

The element running through entire nature, which we popularly call Fate, is known to us as limitation. Whatever limits us we call Fate.

If we are brutal and barbarous, the fate takes a brutal and dreadful shape. As we refine our checks become finer. If we rise to spiritual culture, the antagonism takes a spiritual form.

Yet, the secret of the world, it has been stated often, is the tie between person and event. Person makes event, and event person.

The "times," "the age," what is that but a few profound persons who epitomize the times?

The same fitness must be presumed between a man and the time and event, as between the sexes, or between a race of animals and the food it eats, or the inferior races it uses.

Emerson suggested that the soul contains the event that shall befall it; for the event is only the actualization of its thoughts—"and what we pray to ourselves for is always granted."

Timely Views

"To the careless-minded people of this country I would like to say that, unless we become aware of facts, not things of emotional appeal but facts, this country may run the risk at least of becoming the aggressor in a world catastrophe. Revolution in the art of war has changed the nature of statesmanship, which was formerly used to gain national ends. It cannot be circumscribed, as in the old agricultural days, and unless something else is found war itself, having undergone this revolution, in its nature, will destroy civilization." So declared Prof. James T. Shotwell, Columbia university, in a recent address.

"The movement to free the world of war in the future does not disregard the role war has played in the past, such services as in establishing frontiers of civilization," he continued. "There is no criticism of the past and the splendid realization of its nature, will destroy civilization." So declared Prof. James T. Shotwell, Columbia university, in a recent address.

COLLEEN MOORE in
"Sally," now showing at the Cosmo theatre.

"Sally" now showing at the Cosmo Theatre, was adapted from the noted Ziegfeld hit of the same name by June Mathis and enacted before the camera by a cast of more than ordinary excellence. As "Sally," Colleen Moore is declared to have eclipsed any role she has portrayed in the past. Her "Sally" is fraught with originality, charm and hoydenish humor.

Chief in her support is Lloyd Hughes, playing the foster son of a multi-millionaire. Leon Errol, who created that inimitable comedy role, the Duke of Cheekygo-vinia, in the original stage version, appears in the film version in the same character. Other important players are: Myrtle Stedman, John T. Murray, Ray Hallor, Eva Novak, Dan Mason, Carlo Schipa, E. H. Calvert and Louise Beaudet.

Joint Recital Planned At Methodist Church

Wesley Kuhnle, pianist, and Miss Elizabeth Mottern, soprano, will give a joint recital next Tuesday night, at First Methodist church, under the auspices of the Lucy Webb Hayes group of the Women's Home Missionary society. There will be no admission charge, but an offering will be taken.

MISS ALPAUGH IS 'FIND' OF 'MANNA'

Glendale Girl Who 'Backed' Players With Own Cash Makes Big Hit

One of the pleasantest and most satisfying things about the production of "Manna," Olga Printz-lau's play of love and faith, now filling a two weeks' engagement at the Philharmonic Auditorium in Los Angeles, is the splendid reception nightly given Miss Mary Isabelle Alpaugh. This young girl is reaping a triumph which is the result of a sowing of self-effacement, friendliness and patient toil.

Mary Alpaugh's story is an out-of-the-ordinary one. Both her parents are dead. They left her independently wealthy. Before her father passed away, he committed her to Florence Dobinson's care, since the girl had shown a decided aptitude for the stage, and Mrs. Dobinson's achievements over thirty years of professional work made her the logical person to supervise Miss Alpaugh's training.

Miss Alpaugh backed the Dobinson Players with her own money. The Glendale Playhouse—the auditorium of the Tuesday Morning club—was secured, and the production of plays was started. Granted the same set of circumstances, what would be the overwhelming demand of the actresses? Why, it would be voiced something like this:

"This is my company. I made it possible. It's my money that paid for the organization, and which is keeping it going until it becomes established. So I'm going to be the star. I want the best role in every play—or there won't be any company."

Miss Alpaugh's Attitude
But Miss Alpaugh said nothing of the sort. She quietly accepted the small parts assigned her by Mrs. Dobinson. She worked hard and earnestly, eager to learn, accepting direction submissively. And off the stage she struggled with financial problems and the thousand-and-one annoying details of production.

In "Manna" the part of Blythe Martin, which was assigned to her, reads like a small one. But she seized it with the unerring grasp of the artist that she is and made it one of the big outstanding, vital parts of the production. Which makes it quite evident that Mary Alpaugh has a brilliant future.

London women have adopted a fad of hanging their own wall-paper.

Border Breed

Plenty of trouble and plenty of comedy included in picture at the Glendale theatre; five stage acts.

A "circus cowboy," a delightful daughter of the desert, an ex-gun fighting sheriff, a mannish and husky woman, a trick Ford, a negro bartender and a little old couse can get into plenty of trouble and plenty of comedy, as "Breed of the Border," which is scheduled today and tomorrow at the Glendale theatre, attests.

The picture is the third of the series produced and directed by Harry Garson, starring the popular athlete and actor, Lefty Flynn, and it provides its rollicking star with his best material to date. Director Garson has caught faithfully the spirit of the desert and the story of William Hoffman contains some of the tensest drama ever seen in this type of picture.

The exteriors were taken in the famous Death Valley. Dorothy Dwan, Louise Carver, Milton Ross, Frank Hagney and Bill Donovan are prominent in the cast.

Fine Vaudeville Show
On the stage are five acts of exceptional vaudeville, headed by Taylor, Lake and Ryan, three dainty girls, and a boy. For a Swiss echo song they have adopted an Alpine setting with a snow storm and everything that goes to transport the audience to the scene of the story. For southern melodies they use the log cabin and cotton fields.

A genuine comedy skit is offered by Eddie Black and Claire O'Donnell where a stranded violinist in a small town runs amuck with the village nut. "A magic act a la Ziegfeld" is the way one reviewer describes the offering of Hanson and Burton sisters who style themselves "The Magical Man and His Magical Maids."

It takes Sam Bevo, who calls himself "the musical joke," to elevate the humble harmonica to the ranks of popular modern musical instruments. A study in comedy silhouettes is produced by the Halkings. It is said to be the only act of its kind in the world.

AIR MAIL AUTHOR IS AVIATION FAN

Writer Of Gateway Feature Spends Time Each Day 'In The Clouds'

Byron Morgan, author of "The Air Mail," which is showing at the Gateway today and tomorrow, is a flying enthusiast.

For more than two years he has owned and sailed a "ship." Morgan figures no day complete without at least one trip to the clouds. Warner Baxter, Billie Dove, Mary Brian of "Peter Pan" fame, and Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., are featured in the picture, which was adapted for the screen by James Shelley Hamilton.

Story of Air Mail
"The Air Mail" is a story of a crook who joins the United States air mail service for the purpose of making a big haul, but is reformed by the spirit of the service and the love of a beautiful girl.

This story is said to be the finest thing the author has ever written directly for the screen, and when one thinks of such big screen successes as the Wally Reid auto stories, "Code of the Sea," "Flying Barriers," etc., that means "The Air Mail" is just about perfect entertainment.

GRADY LEAVES AS CHAMBER OFFICER

Organization Secretary Will Return To Berkeley To Continue Work

L. H. Grady, for the past year organization secretary of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce, left today for his home in Berkeley, tendering his resignation to the Glendale chamber. Mr. Grady will go into chamber of commerce work in the north, he said.

With the resignation of Mr. Grady, Secretary Howard I. Wood announced the appointment of Mrs. Catherine Whydock as organization secretary. Mrs. Whydock has been associated with the chamber as head of the office department for the past year. Prior to that time she was secretary to the managing director of the Oakmont Country club. She is well versed in membership work, having handled that part of the organization of the Oakmont club. While in charge of membership work here, Mr. Grady established what is believed to be a record. During the past week he secured a total of twenty-three new members to the chamber, the largest number ever recorded for a single week.

Tells Views

W. T. JEFFERSON, who expresses his opinion on traffic problems on Los Feliz road.

Prior to sailing for Europe yesterday morning, W. T. Jefferson, prominent realtor and property owner in Glendale, made known his views on the elimination of traffic problems on Los Feliz road, San Fernando road and Central avenue. He said:

"The city engineering department has called my attention to the fact that the removal of the 'bottle neck' in the Los Feliz block, between San Fernando road and Central avenue, should be considered at once.

"The approaching completion of the Griffith Park bridge, to say nothing of the projected changes in the Los Feliz crossing over the Southern Pacific tracks, will feed an enormous amount of traffic into this block. Los Feliz road will be 100 feet wide across the Southern Pacific tracks, and is now 80 feet wide from there to San Fernando road, then narrows to 75 feet commencing at San Fernando road, and eventually narrows to 60 feet at Central avenue.

Capable Engineering Force
"It would not be necessary to widen Los Feliz road east of Central avenue, for the recently widened Central avenue could handle any traffic diversion from Los Feliz road, and feed this through east and west traffic into Park avenue, soon to be widened, and other streets that will be ready soon to handle this traffic.

"We have an exceptionally capable engineering department at the present time and, very fortunately, the property owners whose co-operation would be most desired for this civic improvement are men of public spirit and vision, and as the property they own is unimproved, they should be glad to co-operate with the city to the fullest extent.

"Mr. Solomon, who owns the southwest corner of Los Feliz road and Central avenue, and Harry McCormick, who owns the adjoining piece of frontage on Los Feliz road, would undoubtedly be glad to co-operate for the city's benefit, and also would Mr. Baudino and the other property owners in the block.

To Co-operate
"It would be a great pleasure for me to co-operate with Mr. Solomon, Mr. McCormick and the other property owners in the block for the completion of this necessary improvement. I feel that the Central avenue property owners and others who are interested in this traffic, should consult with the frontage owners in the 'bottle-neck,' and the city engineer's office at once.

"I regret that my building is not further back from the line on Los Feliz road, though, without being asked to do so, I donated five feet in Los Feliz and ten feet on Central avenue to the city. I am willing to pay my share of the expense in cash, if necessary. And this, with the set back offers, which I understand have been made by the property owners who have not so far given any space to the city, should make the problem easy of solution."

FROM EAGLE ROCK

EAGLE ROCK, May 15.—More than 200 Pythians of Southern California assisted in organization of a new Pythian lodge in Eagle Rock that has been inaugurated here with forty-eight charter members. Initiatory work was in charge of teams from Manitou lodge 302 of Lincoln Heights and Central avenue lodge 319. The local order will meet every Friday evening at Miller's Hall.

In an effort to get more satisfactory transportation service, either by bus or street car, a committee composed of R. C. Blackmer, O. A. Miller, G. A. Anderson, S. Schafer, R. C. Bennett, G. C. Mattison and Kay W. Hunt has been appointed by the Chamber of Commerce to confer with transportation officials.

Colorado boulevard in Eagle Rock will be widened and improved from the intersection of Broadway and Colorado to the Glendale city limits, making it the same width in Eagle Rock that it is in Glendale.

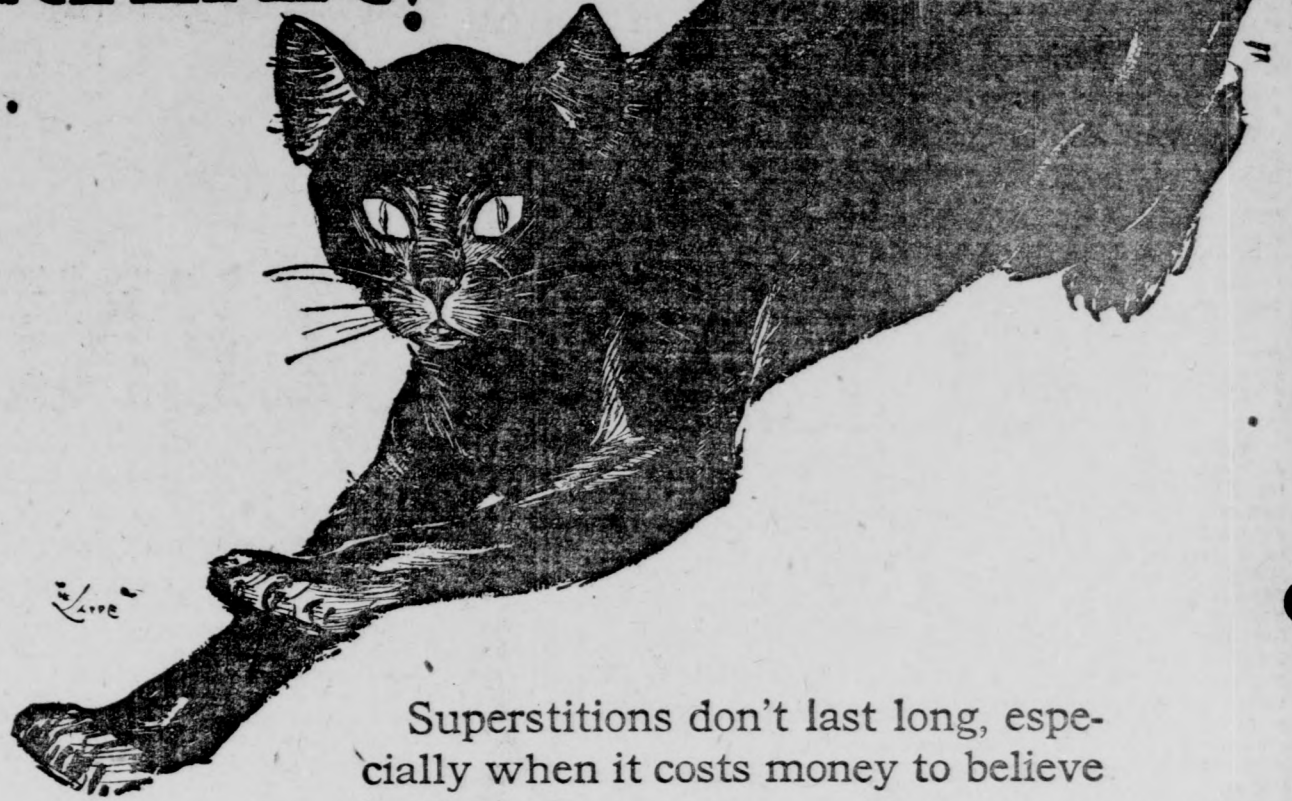

Arrangements are being completed for the first annual mercantile exposition to be held here May 21. The automobile section is entirely sold out.

Dressmaking classes at the Eagle Rock school will be continued if the women now enjoying the benefits of the school can obtain enough new members to make an average attendance of at least fifteen.

RAILWAY DISASTER

So great was the damage to the railroads in Ecuador recently that business conditions will be below normal for several months until the line can be restored.

Where are the SUPERSTITIONS OF YESTERYEAR?

Superstitions don't last long, especially when it costs money to believe in them.

For example, the majority of Pacific Coast motorists have long since stopped paying tribute to the superstition that there is something mysteriously "better" about "eastern" motor oils merely because they cost more and are made in the East.

Experience proves superiority of western lubricants

As a matter of fact, the most suitable crude petroleum so far discovered for the manufacture of a motor lubricant is the naphthenic base crude which this company obtains from Pacific Coast wells. And the most advanced refining process is the patented high-vacuum process used exclusively by this company in the manufacture of Zerolene lubricants.

Zerolene is first choice of western motorists

Zerolene lubricates more cars in the Pacific Coast states than any other oil made. Six out of the seven trophies offered in the 1924 Los Angeles-Camp Curry (Yosemite) Economy Run were won by Zerolene-lubricated cars. The "anti-western" bogie simply doesn't hold up. Zerolene increases gasoline mileage, reduces upkeep costs and lengthens engine life, in high priced cars and motor trucks alike.

Zerolene will do the same thing for your car. Why pay tribute to a superstition? Insist on Zerolene by name.

Get the facts!

A series of independent and impartial reports showing the experience of large users with Zerolene has been collected in our booklet, "Why Pay Tribute to a Superstition?" Ask any Standard Oil Company representative or Zerolene dealer for a copy.

BURBANK NEWS

BURBANK, May 15.—The Associated Chambers of Commerce of the San Fernando valley are searching for a secretary for part-time work, and L. H. Boydston, Burbank, has been selected to receive applications. Boydston is chairman of the organization.

Formal opening of the new Victory park in the southwestern part of the city has been set for Sunday, May 31, by the park and forestry commission. The Burbank Choral club will take an active part in the dedication ceremonies.

Burbank is to have a new city park. A resolution has been adopted by the Board of Trustees authorizing Chairman Watson of the park committee with members of the park and forestry commission to negotiate for the purchase of an eight and a half acre tract between Clark street and Magnolia avenue, south of Main street. A thirty-day option has already been obtained, it is said.

Slot machines were given another chance in Burbank by action of the Board of Trustees. They are to be permitted to operate until complaints are received against them. A number of machines were installed before the matter was considered by the board, and within ten minutes after the vote of three to two to allow them to remain they were running in full blast, it is said.

A jury in superior court has returned a verdict in favor of Chief of Police John H. Long and W. E. Gates, a former member of the police department, in a $20,000 damage suit filed against them by R. E. Jaekel and John Aiken, for alleged unjust arrest.

MEN ARE PROVING BETTER SHOPPERS

Special Sale At Coast-To-Coast Army Store On Shirts This Week

The men are shoppers in every sense of the word, just the same as women are, was the statement of S. D. Goldsmith, proprietor of the Coast to Coast Army Store, Brand boulevard and Harvard street, today when he asserted that the men were always responsive to the announcement of a special sale of any sort at his store.

"It is for this reason that we always try to make it a point to have some week-end special that will appeal to men," he said. "This week a special purchase of men's dress shirts is being featured, which we believe will help to maintain the store's reputation for merchandise and low prices."

FOREST CLUB HAS BRILLIANT AFFAIR

Angeles Society Dance Held At Oakmont For Benefit Of Fire Fighters

Oakmont Country club was the setting last night for a brilliant social gathering on the occasion of the last dance to be given this season by the La Crescenta unit of the Angeles Forest Protective association.

The many lovely gowns worn by the women added colorful note in contrast to the somber black of the men's evening dress. C. L. Mead of Montrose, was chairman of the entertainment committee. Proceeds will go toward furthering the work of preventing fire outbreaks in the hills near Sister Elsie Peak. The entire membership of the Los Angeles County Foresters was present.

A group of the prominent La Crescenta business and professional men met around the banquet table during the festivities and completed final plans for the great drive in the interest of the American Legion endowment fund. Working in co-operation with the Legionnaires with Dr. Montague Cleaves as chairman are: Messrs. Harvey Bissell of La Crescenta, Barnum of Sparr Heights, P. Ducker of La Canada Chamber of Commerce, Harry N. Fowler of Verdugo City, C. L. Reinhard of the Board of Education, R. Q. MacDonald of Highway Highlands, L. H. Merritt of the Montrose State bank, H. Nuzum, Benton Wirt and Commander A. E. Baron of the Verdugo Hills post, No. 288. Adjutant Turner, president of the Los Angeles County Council of the Legion, was speaker.

reading and discussion of child training. Two weeks ago Mrs. Mary B. Darrow read a synopsis of "Manna" and interpreted the scene between the policeman, Kitty's father, and Kitty. So enthusiastic was her audience that it was decided to write Florence Dobinson, director of the Dobinson Players in Glendale, to request her to put it on again for the benefit of the P. T. A. members and others who had not seen it during its run. With "Manna's" revival in Los Angeles at the Philharmonic auditorium, P. T. A. members will form a matinee party and go in a body next Wednesday.

Mrs. Vernon Hall, chairman of the reading circle, conducted the reading and business session. Mrs. Van Lonen was assisted in serving by Mrs. E. Fredericks, newly-elected president of the Montrose P. T. A. Next Wednesday morning members will meet at 11 o'clock for lunch before leaving for Los Angeles to attend "Manna."

Tomorrow afternoon the Ladies' Aid of the Montrose Methodist Community church will hold a cooked food sale with Mr. J. D. Van Lonen in charge. Edgings Electric Co. has loaned the use of their store next to the bank for the sale.

Montrose Troop of Boy Scouts will meet tonight at the home of the Scout Captain, Mac Carton, on the corner of Honolulu and Glenwood avenues. This change in plans was made necessary on account of delay in installing lights in the Legion building.

Those interested in the work of forming a Christian Science society are requested to meet Monday night at the home of Mrs. E. D. Mackay, Hillside Terrace, at the corner of Los Angeles and Michigan avenue. The meeting will open promptly at 8 o'clock.

ANSWERS TO MOTHERS

"Dear Doctor: I would like to know why a woman who became a mother a month ago, should be left with a large abdomen? This is her first child. She is only 28 years old. Her physician is considered a good maternity doctor. When she mentioned it to him he said: 'Well, you have a beautiful baby.'"

"I am very anxious about her and will appreciate a reply—Mrs. M."

I am not going to answer this letter so much for you, Mrs. M., because by this time the mother's large abdomen has probably subsided. I am considering it largely because I know there are a lot of physicians who read my column, and among them may be some of the careless-answering type.

I want them to realize that these things that seem of minor importance to them may be of major importance to their patients. The doctor in this case probably knew that the condition would right itself in time, but he should have explained that.

He should have advised her to wear a firm support, too, and to reduce her weight, if she were overweight.

Did she become overfat in carrying her baby? That might result in weakening the abdominal wall. She should take exercise to strengthen the abdominal muscles. (We have an article on the Atonic Abdominal Wall which you may have by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope with your request.)

Swallowing the Wrong Way

Mrs. B.—Occasionally one will swallow particles of food or saliva the "wrong way." Drinking something cold or hot will help allay the spasm.

Occasionally babies and children will swallow things that go down the windpipe. If the child is small enough, holding him upside-down by the feet and slapping him on the back may dislodge it. If he is too large for this treatment, hang him over the edge of a chair or table. Call your physician.

Children can be taught not to put objects in their mouth. I believe the best way is to begin early slap the hands smartly and say: "No, No!" when this is done. (When a child is older and will understand other punishment you would not slap.)

Reducing During Pregnancy

Mrs. D.—Yes, it will be all right for you to begin to reduce even though you are nursing your baby. It will improve your milk rather than otherwise. The chief point to remember is that you must not cut down on your foods that would make good milk for the baby.

You should have daily three to four glasses of milk, some nuts, cheese, liberal amounts of the green vegetables and fruits, and some whole grain breads and cereals. If you have these things, it means that you have to cut down markedly on your sweets and oils. Don't lose too rapidly. One to two pounds a week will be enough.

(The booklet on reducing was sent to you if you sent a self-addressed, stamped envelope with 10 cents in stamps, with your request.)

Mrs. G.—We have articles on Eczema, Bed Wetting and Colic. We can also give you a list of modern books on Child Feeding, if you will send a self-addressed, stamped envelope with your request.

Tomorrow—Answers to Correspondents.

My Dear Followers:—When sending for material which we offer, please remember to enclose a stamped envelope bearing your full name and address. The pamphlet on reducing and gaining is the only one for which you must enclose four cents in stamps extra. Address your letters to me in care of this paper. Make them as brief as possible, not over 200 words, and type or write them legibly with ink.

Please sign your name as evidence of good faith—we will not use it in any way. Remember it is impossible for me to diagnose for you or to answer you personally. I appreciate much more than the beautiful letters you send me and regret it is impossible to give you individual advice. The question you ask will be answered in the column as soon as possible; if they are of general interest. Don't forget the same, if you expect me to send you the information I have offered.

To can strawberries in your washbottle canner, begin as follows: To each quart of the berries add one cup of sugar and two tablespoons of water and put the mixture over the fire to simmer for 15 minutes; let stand overnight in the same saucepan, and in the morning reheat to the boiling point and turn into hot, quart-size jars which have been sterilized as follows:

Wash glass jars, and glass covers, then place both in cold water to cover (jars on their sides). Bring to the boil and let the water continue to boil around the empty jars for 15 minutes. Keep them hot by wrapping in towels wrung out of hot water, until you wish to fill them with the hot fruit. The canning experts of the United States Agricultural department recommend this hot-pack method, rather than the old cold-pack method for this reason: "The shrinkage of the fruit skins shrinks them and makes it possible to fill the jars hot. . . . The material should be filled into the jars as hot as possible so as to decrease the time required for the material in the center of the jar to reach the temperature of the canner." (Quoted from Miscellaneous Circular number 24 published by the U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.)

After filling the hot, sterilized jars with the hot fruit, the next step is to put on fresh rubbers, the sterilized glass caps, and put top wire up over cap but do not press down side wire. Stand the jars in your washbottle, on a wood or wire rack (or simply on some thickly-folded cloths—so that water will circulate under the jars as well as around them) in boiling water which reaches to within one-half inch of jar-top. After the water recommences to boil count the time. It should boil for only five minutes around the jar, after which remove jar from the washbottle, press down side wire, and invert to test for leaks.

If leaks are detected, open the jar, put on new rubbers, make sure that the wires are not defective or bent, replace glass cover, and once more put top wire up, not pressing down side wire. Stand the jar again in the boiling water for four or five minutes, to let the water circulate under the jar. If, however, the jar has grown entirely cold, warm it by wrapping in hot towels before putting it back into the boiling water. For a cold jar put into boiling water generally cracks.

Tomorrow—Repainting And Revamping

All inquiries addressed to Miss Kirkman in care of the "Efficient Housekeeper" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable number received. So if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question. Be sure to use YOUR full name, street number, and the name of your city and state.—The Editor.

YOUR CHIN

If the skin of your face is not fine-grained you will find nearly a thousand lotions, creams and powders on the market that will promise to make it so. Your trouble will be to choose the right one and about the only method is to experiment. What suits your best friend may all but ruin your complexion.

You have two rules to guide you, however. If your skin is dry, use a cleansing cream or paste, followed by cream; if your skin is oily, use a powder or the paste. The paste is the best form of skin cleanser for blackheads, large, dirty pores and such troubles, and especially for the skin over the nose and the chin. If your trouble is merely prominent pores or blackheads around the nostrils and over the chin, use the paste freely on only these parts. It will not matter then whether the complexion is dry or oily, for you can dry the nose and chin as much as you want.

You can use starch melted into a paste by adding a little cold water to it; quite a little can be rubbed into the skin. This should be allowed to dry on for perhaps twenty minutes and rinsed off with warm water. You can use finely ground oatmeal—oatmeal powder the druggists usually call it, and sometimes sell it as a skin-softer—rubbed into the skin the same way, when the skin is wet, and then immediately washed off with hot water. You can use the blackhead paste I mentioned recently, which is half cold cream and half the gritty paste soap made for mechanics.

If the skin feels uncomfortably dry after using any of these, then rub on a little cold cream. But be sure that you have rinsed off thoroughly whatever you have been using on your skin. A hot rinse followed by a cold one is advisable.

OFFICERS NAMED AT COLLEGE MEET

Southern Branch, U.C. Elects
Fred Houser President
Of Association

Final count of the votes in the Associated Student elections held Wednesday at the University of California, southern branch, resulted in the election of Fred Houser as president for the coming year. He received a majority of about 400 over Paul Hutchinson, the other candidate.

Helen Jackson, new vice-president, was elected by an overwhelming majority over her two competitors, in the primaries held Monday. She was the only candidate so elected.

Dave Ridgway was elected to the office of second vice-president, by a very small majority over Frank Balthis. The vote was about 950 to 1000 favor to the former. Bill Masters, who served as assistant yell leader, for the past year, was elected yell leader by a substantial majority. The other candidate was Sam McKee.

For men's representative, Cecil Hollingsworth won 150 majority over Joe Crail. The whole election was hard fought by the backers of the rival candidates and the vote was the closest in the history of the institution.

COMMENT by GIL A. COWAN

Abby Rockefeller, reputed richest girl in the world, showed good sense in marrying an American friend of her childhood who practices law and lives modestly as good men should. Nothing sensational about the marriage, except the lesson it teaches other American girls.

Going to Europe, as many do, and marrying some no-account beins of the earth, merely for the title; or falling in love with some chauffeur or riding master, has made rich American heiresses the world's greatest joke, perhaps.

It is strange to what heights of foolishness some people aspire when they might show their intelligence as Abby Rockefeller has done.

A pretty tribute was paid Richardson D. White, superintendent of city schools, at the Rotary luncheon yesterday. After he had finished a talk on boys, Arthur Dibbern, chairman of the day's program, called attention to the fact that he had given the club men a better speech than many visitors and it was pertinent to Glendale.

It is a fact that talent is not recognized in the "home town." There are people living here who are celebrities. One to every block, almost. And yet we think of them as our friends and neighbors and needs must they go away from home to be recognized.

Of course, Glendale is fortunate in having its share and more of notables. Yet how little tribute is given those really deserving. The example set by Mr. Dibbern might be emulated by others.

More than a little interest is being expressed by editors throughout the country in the impending film battle. The independent exhibitors and producers are making ready to give the case to the public as judge and jury.

For some years it has been difficult for many theatre owners to book pictures and vaudeville programs without finding crushing influences against them, working through devious channels. It would be easy to analyze the methods resorted to—but it would prove little in courts of justice.

It will take time for the public to learn the "inside" of the theatrical combines. In New York two "trusts" are fighting it out with the public sitting patiently by and hoping both will be "busted."

Film magnates are not the only ones who fight over the spoils, however. California banks and Southern California druggists, among others, are not sailing in altogether smooth water, the writer is informed. Lawyers, labor unions, automobile clubs, newspapers and railroads are among others disagreeing and airing their troubles.

Power companies are fighting municipal ownership, with many millions at stake. Sectional jealousy is doing more harm in California than any other one influence, perhaps. There are said to be two men for every job on the Pacific coast and in the world at large there are more women than men which makes competition keen even in labor and love.

FRENCH ORDER ALLIED DEBT STUDIED

Cabinet Instructs Caillaux to Look Into War Payments And Suggest Move

By FRANK E. MASON
For International News Service
PARIS, May 15.—The French cabinet, in secret session today formally instructed Finance Minister Caillaux and Foreign Minister Briand to study the question of inter-allied debts and suggest possible solutions for their payment.

This is the first time since the war debts were incurred that a French cabinet has formally taken up the question of inter-allied debts, it was said in diplomatic circles.

War Debt Plan
Caillaux told the cabinet if his plans for the restoration of France's credit abroad were to be carried out, France must face the problem of inter-allied debts and reach a settlement as soon as the budget was balanced.

Minister of Foreign Affairs Briand seconded Caillaux's suggestions.

"I am opposed to dodging facts," he said. "I am an enemy of the policy of the ostrich."

The joint recommendations will be submitted to the cabinet at a future meeting.

Captured Convict In Story Of Prison Break

at the M street house fifteen minutes following the shooting.

Hall said that they left the house on the evening of April 22, after reading a newspaper story connecting them with the murder of Joe Litzberg. He said that they hid in a sandpit on the American river until night-fall. They then walked to Roseville, boarded a freight train and jumped the train at Auburn. As they left the train someone fired two shots and they ran into an orchard.

The captured bandit also admitted that he and Tanko commandeered a United States mail truck near Downeyville and made their escape after eluding posses which chased them through Grass Valley, Nevada City, and Colfax. At times, he said, the posse was within 100 yards of their rear. They did not know that the machine was a mail truck, but stole it merely in a desperate effort to escape from the valley.

Hall stated that they robbed a cabin at Iowa Hill and there obtained the Savage rifle which was abandoned in their flight here yesterday.

The convict refused to state what occurred after they returned to Sacramento yesterday.

Hall emphatically denied that either he or Tanko had participated in the abduction of F. R. Harlow here on April 21. It was while trailing the bandits following the kidnapping of Harlow that Patrolman Clyde Nunn was wounded.

Hall's capture formed an anti-climax to his sensational deeds of the past few weeks. He was taken without a struggle in the Colusa rooming house at 1108 Fourth street, in the heart of the Japanese section.

The "tip" of a citizen whose identity has not been disclosed resulted in Chief of Police McShane rushing to the house with Captain of Detectives Henry Desenfants, Sergeant Perry Gamble and Patrolman Danny Reith. Hall was registered at the place as "Charles Ryan."

When the bandit failed to respond to the call of the officers, the door of the room in which he had taken refuge was broken down with a sledge.

The room was in total darkness and apparently deserted. The gleam of a flashlight failed to disclose any trace of the fugitive murderer at first but Hall was finally detected under the bed.

"Come out of there with your hands over your head" commanded McShane.

Hall complied with the order and smiled wanly as he held his hands out for the "irons." A search of his person revealed no weapon but a dozen shells for the 30-30 carbine which the bandits have used were found in his pockets.

"Well I guess this means the noose for me," Hall told the officers en route to the city jail. "But we've been blamed for a lot of things we didn't do."

"That's an old 'con' alibi," said one of the officers.

"You nearly killed one of our men," referring to Patrolman Clyde Nunn.

"Yes, I understand we did," replied Hall.

In Good Condition
The captured convict appeared in good physical trim. Locked in a cell in the west side of the Sacramento city jail he calmly went to bed and slept soundly throughout the early hours of the morning.

Today, however, much of his bravado was gone, although he still stubbornly refused to tell the probable whereabouts of Tanko.

Reporters were refused admittance to Hall's cell, pending the taking of a statement from him by District Attorney J. J. Henderson. The district attorney is scheduled to question the convict sometime this morning.

Chief of Police McShane announced today that the officers who participated in the capture

FARM BLOC RAPS TRADES IN GRAIN

Western Senators Demand
All Dealing in Futures Be Declared Illegal

WASHINGTON, May 15.—Out-lawing of all traders in grain futures was the demand today of the congressional farm bloc as the department of agriculture continued its investigation of the recent sensational raid of the Chicago wheat market to find some way to prosecute speculators under the grain futures act.

Farm bloc members heartily endorsed this move, but insisted that the administration initiate legislation prohibiting all grain gambling. They urged that this action be taken in the next session of Congress.

Worse Than Robbery?
Western senators, headed by Norris, Republican, of Nebraska, and Ladd, Republican, of North Dakota, declared the last "clean-up" had created an "unenduring situation." Profits of futures trading in grains which they charged amounted to robbery of the consuming public.

"To gamble in the price of food is worse than robbery," said Senator Norris, chairman of the Senate agricultural committee. "Thousands of people starve because of the high price of food, while a handful of men acquire their ill gotten means. Congress has tried to prevent this gambling. Government officials have condemned it. It is time for the administration to act."

Placing of a tax on kerosene by the Canton government recently caused all foreign companies there to stop sale of petroleum products.

Police Find $10,000 in Stolen Goods Hidden

More than $10,000 worth of ladies' wearing apparel and trinkets of all description, stolen from Glendale and Eagle Rock homes over a period of a year, were recovered by Eagle Rock police with the capture of Semile Dorais, 27, yesterday.

Dorais was arrested on suspicion of driving a stolen automobile. Quizzed at police headquarters, he is said to have admitted the theft of a large quantity of dresses and household articles. The loot was stored in trunks and placed in storage.

Glendale residents who have been victims of burglars during the past year have been urged to visit the Eagle Rock station for identification of the stolen goods. Dorais has been a collector and delivery man for a Los Angeles newspaper, police say.

of Hall will not claim any part of the $5100 reward offered for the arrest of the two men.

"The capture of Hall was in the line of duty and we do not expect or want a reward," said McShane.

It is believed that the citizen who informed the police when he saw Hall enter the rooming house will be eligible for part of the reward.

PRISON CONTRACT WORK DENOUNCED

Secretary Davis Says Less Than 10,000 Prisoners Working On Roads

NEW YORK, May 15.—A scathing denunciation of prison contract labor was made by Secretary of Labor James J. Davis before the annual convention of police chiefs here.

Quoting from a report compiled by the bureau of labor statistics, Davis said that out of 84,761 convicts the bureau found in state and federal penitentiaries less than ten thousand were working out their term on public highways and public works.

"I was startled to see how many of these prisoners were turned over to contractors who pay the state a ridiculously low amount per day for the labor of these prisoners and still larger numbers who are working for contractors under a piece price system," Davis said.

HOUGHTON LAUDS WOMAN'S EFFORT

Ambassador Says American Club In London Doing Wonderful Work

LONDON, May 15.—Efforts of American women in London to solidify American-Anglo relations were applauded by Ambassador Alanson B. Houghton, speaking at the American Women's club lunch.

"The happiness, security and peace of the world largely depend upon the mutual friendship of Great Britain and the United States," he said.

Lady Astor, former Virginia belle, was unable to attend, because of the illness of a friend, but telegraphed: "I always feel personally responsible for American ambassadors. I hope Mr. and Mrs. Houghton behave themselves."

'BILLY'S' FIANCEE ON WAY TO TRIAL

Miss Pope Off For Chicago
To Testify In 'Typhoid'
Death Of McClintock

By JAMES S. SHEEHY
For International News Service
PORTLAND, Ore., May 15.—Smiling, but showing the effects of the strain she has been under the past few months, Miss Isabella Pope, fiancée of "Billy" McClintock, "millionaire orphan" arrived here this morning from Grants Pass, Ore., en route to Chicago, where she will testify at the trial of William Darling Shepherd, held for the "typhoid" murder of young McClintock.

Miss Pope, accompanied by her aunt, Miss H. I. Pope of Chicago, was reluctant and hesitant about discussing the impending trial when surrounded by newspapermen and photographers at the union station. She posed for a picture after much persuasion.

"Resentment" Told
Asked concerning the attitude of Shepherd and his wife toward her, she was frank in stating that it was one of "resentment."

"Outwardly they were pleasant enough but it was quite evident they held no love for me," Miss Pope stated. "But that will all come out in the trial and I really don't care to talk about it. My testimony will be much the same as I gave at the coroner's inquest. I have not been served with a subpoena yet, but of course I will testify."

YANKS REFUSE TO PLAY 'WATCH DOG'

Burton Tells Arms Session
Uncle Sam Refuses To Search Canal Ships

GENEVA, May 15.—The United States is not willing to act as an "international watch dog" at the Pan-American canal and violate the flags of other nations to search for arms, Congressman Theodore Burton, chairman of the American delegation to the Geneva arms traffic association told the committee on arms today.

Burton declared the United States was willing to inspect domestic and foreign shipping only for the purpose of preventing liquor smuggling, but believed that mutual confidence should govern international arms commerce, making the searching of ships unnecessary.

Hollywood Cafe Sees Actor Taken In Fight

LOS ANGELES, May 15.—Guests in the Montmartre, Hollywood cafe, were thrown into a panic today when police rushed in to quell a disturbance. Three men, who gave police their names as Kit Guard and William H. Scott, actors, and Lloyd Stone, cameraman, were arrested, charged with intoxication. Kit Guard is a young actor well known in Hollywood.

NEW PRINT SILKS IN MOORISH MOTIF

Colors Of New Style For Women 'Shout' With Blaring Design

By AILEEN LAMONT
Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925.
NEW YORK, May 15.—"It's all over but the shouting," does not apply to the newer printed silks. The designs are of the all over type, frequently with an Arab or Moorish motif, but the colors, of which five or six frequently are used, shout at one long after the wearer has passed. Some of the silks have a gold or silver background printed with designs in glaring red and black.

Even in the Latin quarter, artists have to eat occasionally and some of them are finding the wherewithal of black broad and red ink by painting gloves. The hand coverings are decorated with original designs which are not duplicated even on both gloves of a pair. Embroideries, elaborate and vivid in color take the place of the painted designs on some gloves recently brought from Paris.

Huge notched revers are making their appearance on some of the latest coat frocks. The coats usually are of a ribbed silk material and the revers are faced with crepe of a self or contrasting shade. Between the revers appears a vestee of white satin, with a white satin stock tied closely about the throat.

Hats Trimmed with Leather
Demand for fine kid is growing constantly as a result of the vogue for leather trimming and adornments on new spring wearing apparel. Hats are the latest to feel this influence. The small round crowned, narrow-trimmed Bangkok headpieces are being trimmed with appliques of varicolored leather and have attached to them leather scarfs of a self or contrasting shade, which are wound about the throat.

In these days of motors and taxicabs, women are having the inside rather than the outside of their shoes cleaned. There are any quantity of shoes now made with alleged "stainless" linings but for the real protection of delicate hued hose, all linings should be frequently cleaned and powdered with talc in the proper tint.

Colorful Parade By Colorado School Pupils

Brightening up the grayness of a cloudy May day, was the colorful parade that passed up Brand boulevard from Colorado street school, where the kiddies held a spring festival before the Parent-Teacher association meeting this afternoon.

Like bright sunshine bearing through the heavy clouds, the kiddies in bright costumes and with scooters, doll buggies and bicycles suddenly appeared on Brand boulevard and paraded up to Broadway. They were accompanied by several parents and the school faculty headed by the principal, Miss Ida M. Waite.

SHEPHERD TRIAL

CHICAGO, May 15.—Summons for 100 veniremen to serve in the trial of William D. Shepherd for the alleged murder of William Nelson McClintock, his millionaire ward, which opens Monday, were being served today, as both state and defense busied themselves with last-minute preparations for the presentation of their cases.

the fire started. Had they broken out several hours earlier when they could have gained greater headway, it is doubtful, it was pointed out, whether or not any portion of the entire block north of the paint store could have been saved.

Oil Feeds Flames

A large shipment of wall paper recently imported from England was stored in the rear room of the paint store, where the fire originated. It was badly damaged. A number of tanks of linseed oil, coal oil and other highly inflammable materials in the same room were kept from exploding and throwing burning oil over adjoining buildings only by pouring thousands of gallons of water over them. Some of the tanks of linseed oil and paint mixtures burned, however, creating an intense heat and thick black smoke that made the work of the department exceptionally hard.

Several paintings by Glendale artists, on display in the windows and on the walls of the paint store, were endangered by the blaze. They were not a part of the regular stock, having been left there for display and sale. Shortly after the apparatus returned to the station, engine company No. 3 and truck company No. 1 responded to a call from 1522 Flower street, where papers on the wall above a gas plate had been ignited. The blaze was extinguished with a pail of water.

last three years during which it has brought into California 6,000 to 10,000 families. Officials of this body declared today in dispatches to the writer that the auto camps there were filled with high-priced cars.

One official of the American Express Co. declared today that the trend of travel for people on the Atlantic coast this summer would be heavily toward Europe, but that the inhabitants of the east, central and middle west states would go westward. The large majority of those who go to California will also visit the National parks in the inter-mountain west and the Pacific northwest.

ATWATER RESIDENTS PROTEST ON CULVERT

Ask Los Angeles City Council to Give Better Drainage Facilities in Accordance With Promises

A second petition to the Los Angeles City Council will be filed by Atwater property owners in an effort to get adequate drainage facilities installed in the culvert, 125 feet north of Los Feliz road, in the Walnut Grove section.

A permanent drain ditch, to be topped by a paved alley, was promised by the City Council some time ago, but to date no further action to eliminate the nuisance has been taken, it is declared.

Flood water, draining from the area east of the river as far as the Glendale city limits, follows the line of the culvert to the river during rains, leaving large lakes of water and later deep puddles of mud where the culvert passes over cross-streets leading from Los Feliz road into Walnut Grove.

Property owners will also protest the condition of Glenhurst boulevard between Gracia and Tyburn streets, where great bars of sand, washed down by recent rains, remain, constituting a barrier to traffic.

Real Estate Signs Broken

Following a meeting of Atwater real estate dealers yesterday, a warning was issued to mischievous boys of the district that they must discontinue their practice of breaking up real estate signs, otherwise drastic action will be taken. Realty men reported large losses in signs at the hands of children, who destroy them with rocks or pull them up and carry them away. Police protection will be sought unless the children discontinue their mischief, Clayton S. Decker said.

Luncheon will be served under the liveoaks in Monte Vista park. The council is composed of about 150 representatives from all parts of the United States.

The matter of financing the building of the community house for Sunland is under consideration by the trustees. The bids submitted have varied from $9,000 to $10,000. The building fund, at last report, was approximately $1200. A definite plan for raising the full amount has not yet been decided upon.

The Sunland school pupils and teachers were guests of the Sunland Parent-Teacher association at dinner on May day. After dinner an interesting program was given by the school, representatives from each room taking part.

AT LA CRESCENTA

LA CRESCENTA, May 15.—

The silver tea given yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. P. MacCarton was pronounced one of the most successful social affairs of the season.

Mrs. James McBryde, secretary of Glendale auxiliary, was the principal speaker outlining the work of the order. The speaker asked that the local auxiliary members work in harmony with the legionnaires of the district planning their meetings and affairs in accord with the budget.

Referring to the proposed campaign Mrs. McBryde stated that there are at present 30,000 war orphans in the United States, 5,000 of whom are needing homes. The proposed drive will help acquire these homes.

Calling on the blind and disabled boys at Whittier and other hospitals is the work of the auxiliary, bringing to these unfortunate veterans cheer and friendliness. In closing Mrs. McBryde asked the women to remember that the veterans liked soap probably better than any other gift that could be taken.

The preamble of the auxiliary constitution was read by Mrs. MacBryde. Other Glendale women present were: Mrs. Lola Bombard and Mrs. L. T. Rowley. Mrs. A. P. Hopkins of Highway Highlands accompanied by Mrs. R. Q. MacDonald sang "Lonesome" and "California." Elizabeth Talbot Martin recited "Just Thirteen" and "Lines to a California Poppy." Doris Rose gave a piano solo. Doris and her sister, Elizabeth, are Girl Scouts who are doing their bit to aid the auxiliary. Mrs. L. T. Rowley of Glendale spoke of the baskets prepared and carried to over 300 soldiers during the Christmas holidays.

Mrs. E. T. Dutton of Eagle Rock, gave a splendid account of the activities of that auxiliary. With Mrs. Dutton were Mrs. P. S. Wither, Mrs. E. Pinnerby and Mrs. F. Keith, all of Eagle Rock. Mrs. A. E. Baron and Mrs. MacCarton were assisted in serving by Mesdames Joe Whillock, Benton Wirt, R. Cunningham of the valley, and Lola Bombard of Glendale. Beautiful blooms decorated the home, receipts from the tea were in excess of $100. The auxiliary completed plans to celebrate the placing of the roof over the new post home tomorrow. All are invited to be present and help the good work along. Cooper brothers of La Canada, will place the roof arches.

Rev. Clifford Jones of Pasadena, has answered the call to accept the pulpit of the Community church and will hold his first service on Sunday morning at the church. Virtually all of the officers and many of the members of the Sunday school of the Community church have been attending the Sunday school convention in session at Alhambra yesterday and today.

There will be a short session of the local I. O. O. F. in the lodgerooms in the Fowler building next Tuesday night. The members will go to Los Angeles where they will witness the degree teams work at the new temple at Washington and Oak.

Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Walker and Mrs. J. M. McCutchen have moved to the valley from Glendale. Mr. Walker is with the Packer Motor Co., and has purchased a home on the Montgomery tract near Ramsdale.

QUARANTINE STATION

LOCAL PLANT POLICE JUDGE WILL COST OF BURBANK $2,000,000 RESIGNS

Purchase Of San Fernando Realty Is Involved In Automobile Project

The contemplated erection of a $2,000,000 automobile factory in Glendale was brought to light today when it was admitted by Floyd E. Buell, 516 West Elk street, that he and others had completed a deal involving the purchase of part of the Glendale baseball park on South San Fernando road at Park street. The ball park site will be the location of the proposed auto factory, he said.

Mr. Buell refused to go further into the details of his plan to build an automobile factory in Glendale, declaring that his plans were not completed and would not be ready for announcement until next week.

It is understood that an automobile embodying a number of new patents, including front-wheel drive and other features, will be built at the plant. It was said that approximately $2,000,000 will be expended in the erection and equipment of the concern. The company operating the plant will be incorporated for that amount, it was stated.

The new car will be known as the Barker Front Wheel Drive. Mr. Barker, the inventor of the car, is also a Glendale man. The site acquired by the Buell interests comprises more than two acres at the north end of the ball park. The proposed factory will cover approximately 90,000 square feet of space. The sum of $40,000 was said to have been the price paid for the factory site.

Criticizes Alleged School
Conditions And Loses
Official Position

The resignation of Judge A. A. Crawford as police magistrate at Burbank was tendered at a meeting of the City Trustees of that city last night. His resignation was accepted.

Judge Crawford quit the police bench as the immediate result of criticism by members of the Board of Education, it was said. Though there has been a wave of sentiment against Judge Crawford for a number of months, the jurist held his place until the present fracas over alleged immoral conditions in the Burbank schools, it was declared.

That the moral status of the educational institutions of the city is at a low ebb was the assertion attributed to Judge Crawford several days ago.

To this, John Meillon, member of the school board, took exception, leading the fight against Judge Crawford.

No successor to the police magistrate has been named by the trustees as yet.

Dr. J. Harold Williams, psychologist at University of California, southern branch, and director of research work for Glendale city schools, will give a lecture on "The Growth and Development of Children" Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the meeting of Cerritos P-T. A. Dr. Williams is said to be an able speaker. Pupils of the school will appear on the program. Mothers of kindergarten and first grade pupils will be hostesses. Election of officers will be held following the program. Mrs. A. L. Kent, president, will have charge.

High School
Executives of the high school P-T. A. are to have a board meeting at 2:15 o'clock Monday afternoon at Harvard High school. On Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock the association will meet at Harvard High school, for annual reports and election of officers. Mrs. W. R. Wicher, president, will have charge of both meetings.

Central
A delightful, informal social affair varied the routine school work at Central school yesterday, when the school faculty and group of other guests were entertained at luncheon by the Parent-Teacher association in the basement of Casa Verdugo church, across the street from the school. An unusually happy association exists at Central school between teachers and school patrons, and this year this harmonious relationship has been emphasized by two luncheons given by the P-T. A. for the teachers.

Luncheon tables were attractively arranged in the church basement by Mesdames J. S. Dickerson, H. C. Wright, Harry Weyand and A. H. McAllister of the P-T. A. A profusion of spring flowers, clever placecards and delicious menu were features of the luncheon. Placecards were made from words, pictures or objects suggesting the various names. It was necessary to try one's skill at guessing in order to find one's place.

Dr. J. C. Livingston, pastor of the church, was a special guest, and gave the invocation. Mrs. E. R. Ripley, P-T. A. president, presided most graciously over the affair. Miss Annie L. McIntyre, assistant superintendent of city schools, and formerly principal of Central school; J. F. McAllister, present principal; Mrs. M. E. Canfield of Columbus P-T. A.; Mrs. A. H. Clark, school nurse; Katherine V. Sinks, club editor of the Glendale Evening News, were special guests.

Teachers present were Alice Livsey, Mrs. Adams, Bertie E. Emery, Helen I. Miner, Marie Struble, Martha J. Rosenberger, Lorine Czerniski, Ethel I. Culbertson, Myrtle I. Saylor, Miss Ellis, Hazel L. Flynn, Grace Claycomb, Janet Perkins, Elizabeth Edwards. Members of the executive board of P-T. A. enjoying the luncheon were Mesdames E. R. Ripley, Granville Jones, F. W. Line, A. H. McAllister, L. H. Thompson, Gerald Blue, R. L. Young, H. C. Wright, J. T. Edwards, Harry Weyand, Albert Hadley, Sidney Reeve, F. E. Colson, O. M. Newby, J. E. Dickerson, C. A. Bunting, A. G. Shonacher, and room mothers. Mesdames Perce Curtis, Knox, Nisson, Everington, Kelly, Hollins, Kressman, Koening, McDougall, Thompson, Elliott, Pyle, Parker.

After the luncheon hour teachers returned to their duties, while executives of the P-T. A. held a board meeting, followed by an association meeting at 3:15 o'clock in the school auditorium.

With but a few more weeks until the close of school and suspension of P-T. A. activity, Central association is not letting interest in the organization lag. Plans were made yesterday for two affairs to augment the treasury before June. On the last Friday in May the association, with Mrs. Granville Jones, finance chairman, in charge, will hold a cookie sale at the school.

The final association meeting will be Thursday, June 4, when the children will present the program, and be treated by the P-T.

BULLETIN
NEW YORK, May 15.—Starting their honeymoon in a 15-cent taxi—5 cents for every one-quarter mile thereafter—Abby "Babe" Rockefeller, the 21-year-old richest heiress in the world, and her 25-year-old limited-income husband, David M. Milton, Jr., were figuratively just to the world today. Where they were honeymooning those who knew would not tell. They will return to New York tomorrow and depart for Europe where they will remain four months.

NEW YORK, May 15.—Abby Rockefeller Milton, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John D. Rockefeller, Jr., and bride of David M. Milton, Jr., has her own cardinal rule for married happiness. The marriage of the couple yesterday at the bride's home in New York was one of the notable weddings of the year, attended only by relatives of the young couple.

The code of Abby Rockefeller Milton, richest girl in the world, is:

Know and live life together. Love each other, and be sure you love each other before. Be frank with each other and you will be happy. "Marriage for me," said the bride, "will mean wings up into the blue ether; no longer earth-bound; an open door to experience and happiness."

Mr. and Mrs. David Meriwether Milton, Jr., will sail tomorrow on the French liner, Paris, for Europe, and upon their return to New York after a brief honeymoon, they will start housekeeping. Mrs. Milton, Jr., intends to do her own housekeeping and they will live in a small flat.

Parliamentary Law
Club Has Meeting

The Parliamentary Law club of Glendale, meeting this morning at the public library, enjoyed a drill arranged by Mrs. H. H. Harris, on incidental and subsidiary motions. Mrs. A. H. Brown, P-T. A. parliamentarian, gave an instructive talk on "Procedure at Conventions," dealing particularly with credentials. The talk proved of such interest that Mrs. Brown was asked to continue it at the next meeting. Mrs. Harry Greenwald conducted an extemporaneous sketch in which members personified the various parliamentary expressions. Taking part were Mesdames F. A. Nicols, A. H. Brown, Dean Phillips, H. H. Harris, L. D. Torrey, Carpenter, Melvin Musser. At the next meeting, the first Friday in June, Mrs. Lange, patriotic chairman, will talk on "The History of the American Flag," and Mrs. Carpenter will have the drill on "Appeal for Decision of the Chair."

A.; officers-elect will be then installed; and the association will hold a birthday party, each member to bring a penny for every year she has lived, for the birthday offering. In anticipation of the annual election Mesdames L. H. Thompson, F. W. Line, J. S. Dickerson, R. L. Young and Granville Jones were named on the nominating committee. The room count awarded pictures to Miss Livsey and Miss Saylor's rooms. Col. James Everington, representing the local American Legion post, spoke on the coming bond election for funds for building and equipping a memorial building in Glendale.

The program included piano duets by Laura Moyse and Clytelle Hewitt of the piano department of Glendale High school; vocal numbers by Miss Grace Claycomb, accompanied by Mrs. Ripley; and readings by Mrs. Canfield. Mrs. Canfield gave clever and entertaining interpretations and was most generous with encores.

POSTMAN ADDED IN CASA VERDUGO

Fifth Carrier Added To List
Now Distributing Postal Packages In District

Readjustment of carrier districts in the Casa Verdugo section in order to assure adequate mail distribution there, was announced today by George Hallett, assistant postmaster. The section will be redistricted and an extra carrier added commencing next Wednesday.

Recent extensions of service in this district has caused a great overloading of the Casa Verdugo routes, Mr. Hallett said, necessitating the addition of a new carrier. This is the fifth carrier to be placed in territory north of Verdugo wash. Mr. Hallett pointed out, in a section where only one man was necessary less than four years ago. The new service will extend delivery to the 900 and 1000 blocks on Jackson street.

Assistant Postmaster Hallett also announced extension of rural route service to Bellevue and Chilton drives between Allen and Alameda streets in the extreme northwest part of the city.

"With this latest equipment a first class job can now be done on the entire head in two to three and one-half hours, including the shampoo. The process is no more uncomfortable than an ordinary shampoo or scalp treatment and when these facts become more generally known to the women of Glendale, many more will be taking advantage of this time and money saving process."

The latest method of Lanoll Permanent Waving is now completely installed in Webb's Beauty Salon and is in charge of one of Mr. Brown's personally trained assistants.

Ruth Mullen Is Bride
Of Douglas Brunner

Miss Ruth Mullen, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. H. C. Mullen of 215 South Pacific avenue, and Douglas Brunner of Los Angeles, were married at the Mullen home last night, Thursday, May 14, 1925. A company of fifty relatives and friends witnessed the bridal service, read by Miss Mullen's father, who is pastor of Pacific Avenue Methodist church. Cecil Brunner roses, sweetpeas and fern were used in decoration. Miss Mullen, who was given in marriage by her brother, Joseph Mullen, of San Diego, wore a gown of ivory white satin, trimmed with maribou. Her veil of tulle was held in place by a bandeau of ribbon and orange blossoms. Her bouquet was a shower of bride's roses and lilies of the valley.

Attending were Miss Mary Mullen as bridesmaid, wearing orchid silk, and carrying pink, sweetpeas, and delphinium; Jean Schlegel as flower girl in yellow organdie frock, and carrying a basket of rose petals; and Frank Brunner of Los Angeles, who attended his brother as best man. Nelson Scott sang "I Love You Truly." Mrs. Roberta T. Young played the wedding marches. Mr. and Mrs. Brunner left for a honeymoon trip to Santa Barbara. They will be at home after June 30 at 4222 Normal avenue, Los Angeles, at Grand View school.

Name Chairman

Ambrose Wood was appointed chairman of the membership committee, to succeed C. L. Jenkins. Keen interest was evidenced in school matters. Mr. Jenkins, who represented the association on the committee of fifteen to conduct a survey of Glendale schools, urged all voters to vote June 10. A report from the association meeting states that association members regret that the ballot is to be split, preferring the entire issue on one ballot. However, it is reported that it is generally agreed in the association that if the split ballot will put the school building program over, it is the most advisable thing to do.

The entertainment feature of the meeting was arranged by C. L. Jenkins. Mrs. Ina Mitchell Butler, formerly of Ziegfeld's Follies, sang and played on the ukulele, and responded to many encores. Piano selections were given by Mrs. A. E. Sherid, and J. T. Jenkins, baritone, gave a group of songs. The next meeting of the association will be June 11, at Grand View school.

QUATRIN HEAVY DERBY FAVORITE

Son Of Omar Khayham, '19 Winner, May Lead Big Field Tomorrow

By DAVIS J. WALSH
For International News Service
LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 15.—Blood is alleged to be thicker than chicken gumbo, among other things, and it was more than significant today that Quatrain and Captain Hal, fairly gorged with the blood of equine royalty, were red hot favorites to win the Kentucky Derby tomorrow and prove the allegation in toto. Both are scions of turf nobility.

Quatrain is the son of Omar Khayham, winner of the Derby in 1919. The Captain is a half brother of Black Gold, which last year won in the stretch as a monarch and champion should.

The kings, of course, have abdicated through force of circumstances, but their heirs are ready to take up the fallen sceptre and create a dynasty. Quatrain today stood as the reigning favorite of the race and if he runs the way the smart money says he must, his name, coupled with that of the great Omar, will echo down the halls of time now and forever henceforth. No father and son have won a Kentucky Derby in all the fifty-one years of its history.

Quatrain Favorite

From present indications, most of the wise money will ride with Quatrain. The Whitney horses, Chantey, Backbone and Reminder will get their customary play and Captain Hal and Kentucky Cardinal probably will fall heir to the second heaviest financial attention. But in the final showdown, the public's eye and the public's money will be on Quatrain. The Johnson entry seems every inch a champion and from his record appears to be able to run in any kind of going. A trifle small early in the season, Quatrain seems to have grown considerably since he won the Louisiana Derby and the New Orleans handicap, the latter event from older horses of class such as Chithowee and Prince James. He came from behind in both races indicating that he can and will run the distance.

Quatrain, seemingly, is a slow starter, differing radically in this respect from Captain Hal. In fact this pair are altogether dissimilar. The Captain is quite a rapid starter and usually shows a bumpy turn of early speed. In addition, he has proved that he can not run in the mud, whereas it is not altogether certain that Quatrain doesn't prefer his with chocolate pudding.

Suppose It Rains
If it rains tomorrow, Quatrain will go to the post like a bankrupt, paying about 10 cents on the dollar. If it doesn't, he will still be the popular choice with Kentucky Cardinal, Captain Hal, the Whitney string, Almaden, and possibly Singlefoot getting the remaining play.

The Captain lined up quite a following the other day when he stepped the full Derby distance in 2:05 1-5. The race itself may be won in worse. Kentucky Cardinal also impressed the lads by winning the Derby trial galloping in 1:38 4-5.

Quatrain meanwhile has done no racing since he won a dash at three-quarters in the mud at New Orleans in 1:14 3-5. Nevertheless, his Derby development seems to have been entirely satisfactory to all concerned.

In a few isolated cases similar confidence is reposed in the Whitney horses, in spite of their poor performance in the Preakness. It was a race, according to all accounts, that was not truly run. Backbone, of the Whitney stable, finished a tiring second, but it is not Backbone to which the Whitney money will look in the Derby.

Unemployment in France now is regarded negligible.

LAWRENCE PERRY SAYS

Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925.
NEW YORK, May 15.—The big three is greatly interested just now in a suggestion concerning football coaching which comes from an official Harvard source. In effect the proposal is that Harvard, Princeton and Yale put the coaching of their eleven into the hands of their respective undergraduate bodies.

The author of this plan is willing to consider an amendment emanating from a Princeton man that a member of the eleven of the previous year be engaged up to December 1, at a salary not to exceed $1,000.

This coach would draw around him a body of assistants recruited from the large number of men, always to be found, unfortunately, who are experienced in football, may have been outstanding players in school or college, but for various reasons are not eligible for the team.

Except for this young head coach and for trainers and physicians—who would be in honor-bound not to coach—none but undergraduates would be permitted on the practice field.

It appears that the Harvard suggestion condones the giving of advice off the field by alumni and accepts the idea of regularly appointed but unpaid advisory committees. Just how this would work out practically has afforded an interesting topic for discussion.

It is generally agreed that such a system of coaching could not develop teams approximating the ability of those produced under present conditions. Also it would greatly reduce the number of games played against other colleges since only those whose teams were put on the field under similar conditions would be met.

As to the game itself, it is argued that much of the finesse taught by the coaches is not observed by the spectators and hence there would be little or no falling off in interest in the game among students and alumni.

A probable falling off in general interest in the career of big three teams, reduction in newspaper publicity and diminished sales receipts of the preliminary games are admitted by the proponents of the plan, who, however, feel this would be desirable rather than otherwise.

In short the proposal, if it could be put into effect, would call for a test of the spirit, integrity and athletic prowess of the undergraduates of Yale, Harvard and Princeton. Instead of a test as under present conditions of the ability of head coaches and their paid assistants.

If any universities are in a position to give some such project an adequate test, Yale, Harvard and Princeton are if only because with their immense bodies of alumni, the preliminary receipts at big three games would be insured.

It may be objected that the idea is not feasible and that intercollegiate rivalries have progressed far beyond any such transcendental notions. But one may not be too sure of that.

NO-HIT GAME IN TWILIGHT LEAGUE

Postal Workers Get One Run But Errors Keep Them Out Of Column

By A. S. HALL
Of The Evening News Staff.
The first no-hit contest in the Twilight league today is a matter of history, although the Postal Employees did succeed in scoring one run yesterday while the Public Service crew was making twelve runs on ten hits. The game was played at the Broadway High school diamond.

The credit for the no-hit game is divided between Farmer and Nicholson—Farmer working three innings and Nicholson working two. The Public Service crew collected six hits off John-son in the fifth inning, after he had held them hitless in the fourth. They gathered four hits, two of them homers, off Richards in three innings.

The way the Postal workers were held hitless, yet scored, was: Whitsett, first man up, walked. He was safe at second on a steal. Carrier was safe when E. Dotson dropped Hastings' throw. Whitsett taking third on the play. Nicholson threw to second to catch Carrier stealing and Camargo heaved the pill home to catch Whitsett, coming in. The ball soared over Nicholson's head and Whitsett scored, Carrier going to third. Shoemaker fanned. Whitley walked. Knapp fanned and Nye went out. Camargo to E. Dotson.

So It Proceeded
In the second inning Richards fanned Miesel and Bullock in order. Richards was safe on Camargo's error. Whitsett walked, but Carrier ended the inning by hitting to Camargo and was thrown out at first. In the third, Shoemaker was safe when L. Dotson muffed his drive. Whitley hit of high foul to E. Dotson. Shoemaker stole second. Hyel, batting for Knapp, fanned. Nye ended the inning by flying out to Beaver. It was one-two-three in the fourth. Miesel flying out to Treferly, gathered on a running catch; Johnson went out, Nicholson to E. Dotson and De Jacomo gathered in Richards' fly. The same rule applied in the fifth. Whitsett fanned. Carrier failing to beat out a bunt and Shoemaker grounded to Nicholson and was thrown out at first.

Although the Postal workers did not get a hit they got one run and had four men left on bases. Aside from Whitsett, Carrier was the only man to reach third base safely in the five innings.

JOHN B. FOSTER'S VIEWS

Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925.
NEW YORK, May 15.—Are the New York Yankees beginning to feel that stiffness of the bones, that heaviness of the heels and that falling away of heart pulsations which betoken advancing years? That question is beginning to agitate New York fans as the proud Yanks slowly nose their way toward the cellar position in the American league.

The team was just in that position at the start of the season where many years of active effort might begin to make their impress. It was the point known in baseball as the "cracking point," although Manager Huggins was reckoning upon postponing the inevitable time. Nevertheless he wisely began to fortify himself where he thought the strain might begin to show first. The pitching trade by which he acquired Shocker was one of his most noteworthy successes along this line.

No one anticipated the illness of Babe Ruth. But now it is coming to be a question whether the Babe will be anything like the Ruth of old when he eventually is discharged from the hospital. Maybe this same illness will take him over the equator toward the temperate zone and after that comes M'sieu The Cake of Ice. Nothing short of a miracle can give him anything approaching a home run record, it is sure.

The benching of Scott was not unexpected. It had been threatened, but it came at last out of a clear sky. Bench judges had been demanding his decapitation for a year.

It is doubtful whether that was the cause of his benching, but if Scott has gone—and he may go to Chicago or Detroit in a trade, as both could use him—the solution of the Yankee problem has not been reached by putting Manning at short. Clever he may be, but he is not the king of tonic that will give the Yanks new thrills. A mighty good move would be to put Aaron Ward at short and find a new second baseman. Ward would team up well with Joe Dugan, and if a high grade second baseman could be put into the lineup, the Yank infield would be rejuvenated.

Of course, it would not be easy to get a second baseman right off the reel that would compare with Ward, but the combination of Ward and Dugan on the third base side of the infield might prove one of the fastest in all baseball and give the team renewed vigor. Ward is a natural player on the left side of the field and he is so willing to go in there that the change could be made on a half hour's notice without upsetting him.

Another position which the Yanks have fortified, but should fortify more, is first base. They carry Gehrig as an extra first baseman, because no club will waive him out of the American league. Gehrig is a good ball player but he will have to travel many a weary mile down the pike before he reaches the stage of general all-around usefulness, say, of Wally Pipp.

As Kelly is the best first baseman in the National league and possibly the best one in baseball at the moment, the Yanks must have a close running mate for him if they wish to keep moving in the big city at the same speed as their rivals.

The Yanks were a little nearer the "age of discretion"—one hates to call it senility—this spring than most people imagined. And that's the canker that eats within and is a condition of rebellion or riot.

BASEBALL

Coach Butterfield's Harvard High Freshman ball team annihilated the scrubs from South Pasadena yesterday in a ragged game on the Harvard lot, 9-1. Hansen of Glendale starred with the stick collecting two bingles out of three tries off Upton, who pitched a fairly good game for the Tiger Cubs. Upton struck out eight and fanned two. "Mumbo" Moniot was right there when it came to chucking, on the mound for Glendale. He whiffed no less than fourteen, allowed one hit and one run in seven innings and passed two.

CLASS C TEAM IN EVENT TOMORROW

Local Squad To Participate In Los Angeles Meet; Expect To Meet

Coach Vic Francy's fleaweight team from Glendale will journey to Los Angeles High school tomorrow to participate in the annual Southern California championship Class C meet. The preliminaries will start at 10 o'clock on the Pioneer oval while the finals come off promptly at 2:30 o'clock. The Glendale team has a fairly good chance of coping the tilt and at least their share of points.

Dick Sunderland, Willie Mainland, Bob Squire and Darrel Korb are the spiksters who will represent the local institution in the meet tomorrow. Sunderland will enter the 50 and 100-yard dashes, the low hurdles and the shot put. Although Dick was injured last week when he was struck by the shot on the local field during practice he will be in fairly good shape to register a few digits in his four events.

Mainland stars in the 100-yard dash, the low hurdles, the shot put, and the relay. Squires attends to the pole vaulting and carries the wand in between times in the relay. Korb shines in the 220, the low hurdles and the relay.

XXV—Unnatural Eating
Unnatural eating will surely lead you down the path that is the short cut to the graveyard, and it is folly to follow the bell sheep of the stockyards. Because some big robust individual makes much noise about his outward appearance health that he claims was developed on three heavy meals per day, is no sign that every one can do it any more than every boxer should think that he could stand to take the punishment that the famous durable Dane, "Battling Nelson" could take. It is only reasonable to believe that Battling Nelson would have been a boxer many years longer had he been a boxer of skill in self defense and took little punishment.

Animals in their natural haunts and living naturally do not carry excessive weight, especially the monkeys and higher apes, the nearest animal to man. It can be said of the gorillas that they are the strongest animals known. The monkeys or apes will not, as experimenters have proven, live on cooked food for more than a few months, and man himself can not do it for one year.

It is very important that one should learn to breathe correctly when on the milk diet and after discontinuing the milk. It is usually important that the muscles of the body be given their daily exercise, and if possible out of doors. If no exercising apparatus is at hand take stretching exercises.

Much can be learned by watching a cat, if no cat is around, stretch anyway you feel like, preferably in bed in the morning with the windows open.

It is important that the body be exposed to the air and sunlight as often as convenient. Light clothing should be worn whenever possible.

People with weak eyes and wearing glasses will find their eyes growing stronger when on the milk diet. Very often the glasses can be discarded, the great changes that take place during the milk diet naturally affect the eyesight as well as other parts of the body.

Tomorrow—Questions and Answers Monday—Water Drinking.

Fighters Ready For Big Battle Tomorrow

SAN FRANCISCO, May 15.—With the referee scrap out of the way and both fighters in fine trim, everything was in readiness today for the open air meeting here over the ten-round route of welterweight Champion Mickey Walker and Lefty Cooper. Jack Kearns, manager of the champion, won his demand that Larry McGrath of Los Angeles should referee the bout.

BEAT PLAYMATES

The HOUSE Of The ARROW

A SERIAL STORY WRITTEN BY A. E. W. MASON
Protected By The McClure Newspaper Syndicate

"We know very little of criminal procedure, even in our own country, in this office," he said regretfully.

"Happily," said Mr. Haslitt with some tartness. With him it was the firm first and last. Messrs. Frohisher & Haslitt never went in to the criminal courts. Litigation, indeed, even of the purest kind, was frowned upon. It is true there was a small special staff under the leadership of an old managing clerk, tucked away upon an upper floor, like an unrepresentable relation in a great house, which did a little of that kind of work. But it only did it for hereditary clients, and then as a favor.

"However," said Mr. Haslitt, as he noticed Jim's discomfort, "I haven't a doubt, my boy, that you will be equal to whatever is wanted. But, remember, there's something at the back of this which we here don't know."

Jim shifted his position rather abruptly. This cry of the old man was becoming parrot-like—a phrase, a formula. Jim was thinking of the girl in Dijon and hearing her piteous cry for help. She was not "snapping her fingers" now.

"It's a matter of common sense," Mr. Haslitt insisted. "Take a comparison. Bath, for instance, would never call in Scotland Yard over a case of this kind. There would have to be the certainty of a crime first, and then grave doubt as to who was the criminal. This is a case for an autopsy and the doctors. If they call in this man Hanaud," she stopped. She picked the telegram up from the floor and read it through again.

"Yes—Hanaud," he repeated, his face clouding and growing bright and clouding again like a man catching at and just missing a very elusive recollection. He gave up the pursuit in the end. "Well, Jim, you had better take the two letters of Waberski, and Ann Upcott's three-volume novel, and Betty's telegram—" he gathered the papers together and enclosed them in a long envelope—"and I shall expect you back again with a smiling face in a very few days. I should like to see our little Boris when he is asked to explain those letters."

Mr. Haslitt gave the envelope to Jim and rang his bell.

"There is some one waiting to see me, I think," he said to the clerk who answered it.

The clerk named a great landowner, who had been kicking his heels during the last half-hour in an undusted waiting room with a few mouldy old law books in a battered glass case to keep him company.

"You can show him in now," said Mr. Haslitt as Jim retired to his own office, and when the great landowner entered, he merely welcomed him with a reproach. "You didn't make an appointment, did you?" he said.

But all through that interview, though his advice was just the precise, clear advice for which the firm was quietly famous, Mr. Haslitt's mind was still playing hide-and-seek with a memory, catching glimpses of the fringes of its skirt as it gleamed and vanished.

"Memory is a funny thing," he said to himself. "If I don't run after her she will come of her own accord."

But he was in the common case of men with women: he could not but run after her. Towards the end of the interview, however, his shoulders and head moved with a little jerk, and he wrote a word down on a slip of paper. As soon as his client had gone, he wrote a note and sent it off by a messenger who had orders to wait for an answer. The messenger returned within the hour and Mr. Haslitt hurried to Jim Frohisher's office. Jim had just finished handing over his affairs to various clerks and was looking up the drawers of his desk.

"Jim, I have remembered where I have heard the name of this man Hanaud before. You have met Julius Ricardo? He's one of our clients."

"Yes," said Frohisher. "I remember him—a rather finicking person in Grosvenor Square."

"That's the man. He's a friend of Hanaud and absurdly proud of the friendship. He and Hanaud were somehow mixed up in a rather scandalous crime some time ago—at Aix-les-Bains, I think. Well, Ricardo will give you a letter of introduction to him, and tell you something about him, if you go round to Grosvenor Square at 5 this afternoon."

"Capital!" said Jim Frohisher. He kept the appointment, and was told how he must expect to be awed at one moment, leaped upon unpleasantly at the next, ridiculed at a third, and treated with great courtesy and friendship at the fourth. Jim discounted Mr. Frohisher's enthusiasm, but he got the letter and crossed the Channel that night. On the journey it occurred to him that if Hanaud was a man of such high mark, he would not be free, even at an urgent call, to pack his bags and leave for the provinces in an instant. Jim broke his journey, therefore, at Paris, and in the course of the morning found his way to the direction of the surety on the Quai d'Horloge just behind the Palais de Justice.

"Monsieur Hanaud?" he asked eagerly, and the porter took his card and his letter of introduction. The great man was still in Paris, then, he thought with relief. He was taken to a long dark corridor, lit with electric globes even of that bright morning of early summer. There he rubbed elbows with malefactors and gendarmes for half an hour whilst his confidence in himself ebbed away.

Then a bell rang and a policeman in plain clothes went up to him. One side of the corridor was lined with a row of doors.

"It is for you, sir," said the policeman, and he led Frohisher to one of the doors and opened it, and stood aside. Frohisher straightened his shoulders and marched in.

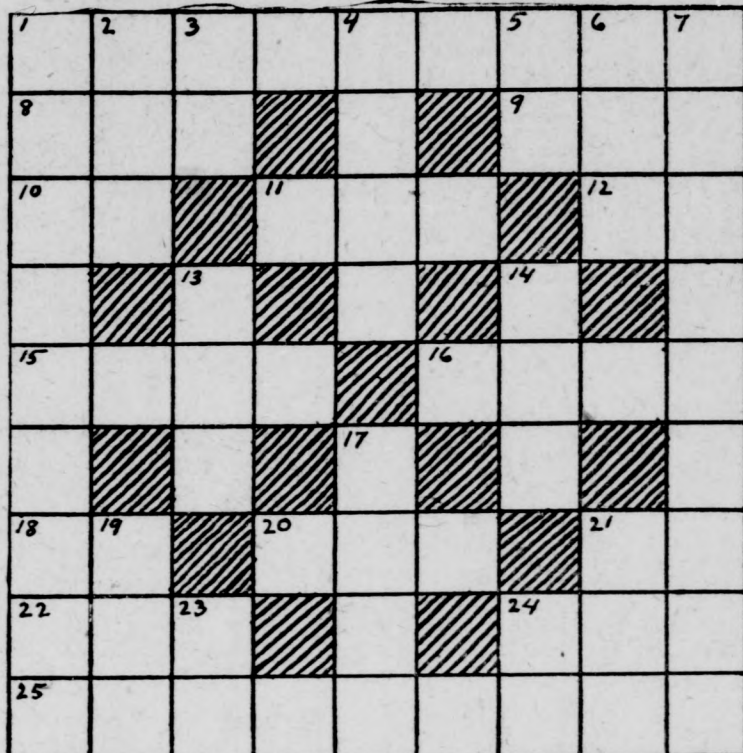

CHAPTER THREE

Servants Of Chance

Frohisher found himself at one end of an oblong room. Opposite to him a couple of windows looked across the shining river to the big Theatre du Chatelet. On his left hand was a great table with a few neatly arranged piles of papers, at which a big, rather heavily-built man was sitting. Frohisher looked at that man as a novice in a duelling field might look at the master swordsman whom he was committed to fight; with a little shock of surprise that after all he appeared to be just like other men. Hanaud, on his side, may not have been said to have looked at Frohisher at all; yet when he spoke, it was obvious that somehow he had looked and to very good purpose. He rose with a little bow and apologized. "I have kept you waiting, Mr. Frohisher. My dear friend Mr. Ricardo did not mention your object in his letter. I had the idea that you came with the usual wish to see something of the underworld. Now that I see you, I recognize your wish is more serious."

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE SILVER ARROW
One day, in the hollow stump school, the Lady Mouse Teacher in her cute, little squeaking voice said:

"This afternoon, my dear animal children, we are going to have a little entertainment. There will be some music by Dickie and Nellie Chip Chip, the sparrows, who will sing for us, together with their cousins, the Song and Vesper sparrows. Bully and Bawly No-Tail, the frog boys, are going to croak a bass duet, and I want some little rabbit girl to take the part of Cupid and recite a few verses, holding a silver arrow in her paw. For Cupid, you know, is supposed to fly about with a bow and arrow."

"But just an arrow of silver, without a bow, will be enough for this afternoon," squeaked on the Lady Mouse. "Now what little rabbit girl will be Cupid for our entertainment?"

No one raised a paw for a moment, though many eyes were turned toward Baby Bunty, for she would make a cute Cupid, everyone thought. But finally Weezie Longears, the little rabbit girl who had come to Uncle Wiggily's hollow stump bungalow with his new wife, raised her paw.

"Very well, Weezie, you shall be Cupid this afternoon," said the Lady Mouse. "Come back after lunch with a silver arrow."

Then school was dismissed for the morning and such a buzzing of talk as there was! Bully and Bawly began croaking away very hard to practice their bass singing, while the sparrows chirped their sweetest songs.

"I think Weezie will make a lovely Cupid," said Weezie, her twin rabbit brother.

"I thought you would want to take the part of Cupid," said Weezie to Baby Bunty.

"Well, I was going to raise my paw," said Baby Bunty. "but when the Lady Mouse Teacher spoke of a silver arrow I knew I didn't have any, so I didn't see how I could be Cupid without a silver arrow."

"That's so, Weezie!" cried Weezie. "How are you going to get a silver arrow? You didn't think of that, either, I guess!"

"No," answered Weezie. "I didn't. I guess I had better tell teacher to get someone in my place. I haven't a silver arrow." But it was too late to tell the teacher mouse, for she had gone home to nibble some cheese for lunch. No one else knew where to get a silver arrow to lend Weezie and the little rabbit girl didn't know what to do.

"I don't want to disappoint my teacher," she sighed. "But I can't find a silver arrow to look like Cupid."

"Why don't you ask Uncle Wiggily?" croaked Bully, the frog, in his deepest voice. "Uncle Wiggily can do anything!"

"That's so! Ask your new daddy—Uncle Wiggily!" cried the other animal boys and girls. And so when Weezie hurried home to the hollow stump bungalow that noon she told Uncle Wiggily all about it.

"A silver arrow—is that all?" laughed the bunny gentleman. "That is very easily gotten. I will first make an arrow out of wood. Then I will cover it with shining tin foil and it will look like silver."

"But where will you get the tin foil?" asked Weezie.

"Look!" exclaimed Mr. Longears, taking a large piece of the bright, shiny stuff from his pocket. "I found this as I was hopping through the woods, looking for an adventure. I picked it up, not knowing when I might need it, and now—lo and behold—I shall make a silver arrow with it!"

It did not take Uncle Wiggily long to gnaw out of a shingle a beautiful wooden arrow. Then he carefully wound the tin foil around it and the arrow looked just like silver. And when it was almost finished the Bob Cat stuck his head out of the bushes looking for a tender little rabbit boy or girl to nibble.

"Run along home with you!" cried Uncle Wiggily, and he scratched at the bad chap on the nose with the silver arrow.

"Wow!" howled the Bob Cat, and away he ran.

That afternoon in school Weezie stood up and recited some verses about Cupid, and everyone said her silver arrow was just wonderful. So this teaches us that, after all, tin foil is of some use in this world. And if the automobile doesn't turn upside down to show the Man in the Moon how its wheels go spinning around, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the golden ball.

Dease Lake Gold Rush

Now Under Full Sway

VICTORIA, B. C., May 15.—To cope with the gold rush now under way to Dease Lake and to referee the scramble for choice claims in the new Eldorado fields there, Hon. William Sloan, minister of mines, has rushed H. B. Campbell, mining recorder at Williams Lake to the Dease Lake fields. He is also placing H. W. Dodd, gold commissioner at Telegraph Creek at Porter's landing at the other end of the lake. Charles H. Smith and Michael Larsen are being placed at Dave Creek on the Dease river. The minister says a rush seems to be under way.

Engineer Tests Alvita for Kidney Trouble

"I have been troubled for several years with bladder inflammation and when I sent for Alvita was unable to work and did not know if I ever would run an engine again. I could not stay in bed nights, as I was worse lying down than at any other time. I have been up 25 to 30 times in six to eight hours. Forty-eight hours after I began taking Alvita tablets I was almost normal and in four days went to work, and at present feel perfectly well. I don't know what to say; in fact, cannot tell how I appreciate the benefits I have derived from the use of Alvita. I have given away some to other men that are affected."

(Signed) W. F. OLEWINE.
Alvita Tablets are scientifically prepared from the wonderful alfalfa plant, which through its long root absorbs the vital elements—lime, iron and phosphates—necessary to health and vigor. Alvita has proved especially beneficial in overcoming kidney, bladder and prostate trouble. No matter what you have tried, try this remedy of Nature now.
